FORECAST FOR RACING WEATHER TO-DAY—Fair weather, with small changes in temperature.

Special to The New York Times.

LOGAN, Iowa, March 3.—The Thomas car in the New York to Paris race arrived here at 6:40 P. M. Under severe conditions we covered 107 miles to-day from Ogden, Iowa, and are now only 84 miles from Omaha.

I never in my life saw such roads as there are in this State, and I don't believe the people in the East know what bad roads are. Any time we want to know the road to a certain place we ask the farmer which is the best towpath to the next town.

Probably to-day has been the hardest run we have had. The mud, which they call gumbo, is anywhere from two inches to two feet deep, and only twice to-day have we had to cross a field. It is just one constant plug in the first speed. My car seems to have 100 horse power to-day instead of 60 in the hood. She is in beautiful shape and runs like a clock. The crew is very tired, mostly from carrying the gumbo into their boots.

The people are very kind to us in every little town, so kind in one instance as to run off with my flag from the back of the car, and in order to get it back I had to chase a girl about two blocks.

She wanted it for a souvenir. It is great to see the crowds that watch the car going through the mud and hear them say "What a good demonstration of the ability of an automobile!" It is certainly waking up interest in automobiles over the route we have come.

It may be interesting to some people to know that Capt. Hansen joins us at Omaha. This will probably revise the opinions of some people who thought the Thomas car was only going as far as Buffalo. It seems like a holiday in every small town we pass through.

People have even decorated their houses with flags, and every school turns its pupils out to see the American car going by in the great New York to Paris race, and probably after they go back into the school the teacher will tell them all about the event and what hardships the men have to go through. We are tired of answering questions, especially about crossing the Bering Strait, and also about the protest. When they mention "protest," I say:

"Oh, you mean the Protos car; they are away behind."

I can very nearly tell you how many there are in each family here in Iowa, because, when we go to farmhouses, all the family are out waiting for us. Some have just a man and wife and others have from one to ten children.

MONTAGUE ROBERTS.

ZUST DOES 107 MILES.

Reaches Ames, Iowa, and Stays There for the Night.

Special to The New York Times.

AMES, Iowa, March 3.—The Italian Zust car in the New York to Paris race arrived here at 8 o'clock to-night after traversing 107 miles from Cedar Rapids during the day. The Italians left the French De Dion car disabled at Cedar Rapids, and determined to push on after the American Thomas car without further loss of time.

Sirtori, the driver, and the members of the crew are anxious to press on, driving day and night if necessary, but the road will not permit of it.

The high crown in the centre of the road causes the car to slide off into the ditches on either side when high speed is attempted, and at night this danger would be increased. It has, therefore, been decided to follow the Thomas car in the daytime until better roads are reached, when an effort will be made to make up the lost time by night driving.

DE DION WAITS FOR REPAIRS.

May Stay at Cedar Rapids 3 Days—St. Chaffray's Observations.

Special to The New York Times.

CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa, March 3.—In Cedar Rapids everybody is a millionaire. That was my first impression when, on arriving, I saw a fine road, five miles long, all bordered with Ionian, Grecian, and Roman cottages, surrounded with low willow trees and decorated with columns and all the latest improvements of modern architecture.

Surely the people who live in such fine houses must be millionires, I thought. When I meet a true millionaire I know.

I asked Mr. Douglas and his young wife at the Cedar Rapids Hotel, where they ordinarily live: "What is the reason that so many wealthy men prefer to live in Cedar Rapids rather than in other towns, and that they get such gay residences, but you stay yourself at the hotel?"

My American friend had lived too many years in his country to appreciate exactly the extent of my question and the point of view of a foreigner crossing the United States at fast speed. But I made further investigations, and I am now in a position to say that when you think you recognize in Cedar Rapids the most wealthy men, you realize just the contrary of what happens in France.

These fine cottages, which would figure nicely in the Bois de Boulogne on green grounds, cost from $3,000 to $5,000. Frenchmen, you can buy for $10 such a house

SHOT OVER THE COFFEE CUPS.

French Circus Girl Dead and Woman Singer Held—Says It Was Accident.

The theatrical boarding house at 215 West Forty-second Street, next door to the Lyric Theatre, was startled at 6 o'clock last night to hear a loud report from the room of Mme. Mitzel Morok on the third floor, who loops the loop in an automobile for circus and vaudeville attractions. Some of the boarders hurrying into the room found Mme. Morak dead on the floor near the door with a bullet wound in her throat.

Over her stood Antoinette Dfranne, a young Roumanian singer, who has appeared in the Third Avenue "Jolly Widow" productions. On the floor, between the door and a little table on which stood bread and jam and two empty coffee cups, was a little Franch magazine pistol with one cartridge exploded. In Roumanian and in German Antoinette Dfranne was calling upon her friend to say that it was an accident.

A policeman arrested Antoinette Dfranne. At the West Forty-seventh Street Station she handed to the matron several diamond rings and a pair of diamond earrings.

"These belonged to Mitzel," she said in English. "So many men come after the pistol go off that I was afraid that they steal, so I put them away. Take them. They should belong to her husband."

Under the questioning of Coroner Dooley Antoinette told her story. She said she had gone to Mme. Morak's room in response to an invitation to have a cup of coffee with her. Antoinette saw a little pistol on the chiffonier, and picked it up. It went off, and Mitzel fell wounded. Her husband was out arranging to take their act to Chicago.

Coroner Dooley said that he was inclined to think the shooting accidental. However, he asked that detectives be assigned to find out to whom the pistol belonged.

Antoinette Dfranne was held to await the result of the investigation.

PENN'A TUNNEL THROUGH.

Ends of Tube B Meet Under the East River.

Eighty-eight feet beneath the surface of the East River, at a point just about midstream, the two excavations of Tunnel B, the second of the four Pennsylvania Railroad tubes which will link Long Island with Manhattan, met yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Work will begin at once on putting in the steel and concrete lining.

The exactness with which the two shields met established a record in subaqueous tunnel digging, according to the engineers who inspected the work during the late afternoon. The ends jointed so closely that the two excavations were only a quarter of an inch out of line and less than three-eighths of an inch out of level.

This is looked upon as a most remarkable piece of engineering. A large share of the credit for exactitude belongs to James Sullivan, the Superintendent, who has had charge of the Long Island City side of the Tunnel B work since it started.

At just 4 o'clock the junction was made, and with a mighty shout the Superintendent and his thirty-five "sand hogs" ran through the opening and started for Manhattan.

Some one called up the office of the S. Pearson & Son Construction Company in Greenpoint, notifying General Manager Japp that tunnel B was safely through. The "sand hogs" and their Superintendent found difficult walking over the floor of the Manhattan end of the tube, but before long they were in the open air on top of Manhattan Island, and the "sand hogs," grimed as they were with the mud and dirt of the river tunnel, celebrated the end of the job on tunnel B.

It was Sullivan's treat. There is one time a Superintendent of construction can afford to be lax in discipline, and that is when a job is done.

Tunnel B was started about the same time as Tunnel D, the one which was joined on Washington's Birthday. In fact, all four tunnels were started about the same time, and practically an equal force of men has been at work on each of the tubes. The difference in composition of the earth encountered is responsible for the difference in time of completion.

General Manager Japp of the Pearson Company said yesterday that Tunnel C will be broken through some time during the present month, and that Tunnel A, the last to be joined, will probably be broken through in April. He said that work was progressing remarkably well on the two tunnel excavations which still remain unjoined, although there is no special hurry to get this part of the work out of the way, owing to the fact that the Long Island tunnel system cannot be put into operation until the Manhattan terminal station of the Pennsylvania nears completion.

FREIGHT BUSINESS GROWING.

Pennsylvania Railroad Orders That Idle Locomotives Be Fired Up.

Special to The New York Times.

PITTSBURG, March 3.—There has been a decided betterment in the business outlook as seen by the Pennsylvania Railroad. Information was given out here this evening that the Pittsburg Division had ordered that fifty locomotives that had been lying on sidings be fired up at once. There is a noticeable increase in the freight business according to this report.

It is understood that the action of the Pittsburg Division is being duplicated all over the lines in proportion to the business done.

JACKSON DENOUNCES ORIENTAL BANK PLAN

Says Agreement with Metropolitan Trust Was a Fraud on the Depositors.

CALLS IT A LICENSE TO LOOT

Will Withdraw Receivers if Metropolitan Trust Will Deposit Money to Pay Oriental Creditors.

Attorney General Jackson last night issued this statement on the affairs of the Oriental Bank:

"The agreement between the Oriental Bank and the Metropolitan Trust Company, which Mr. Menken of Philbin, Beekman & Menken proposed to put through, was a fraud upon the deceived depositors of the Oriental Bank and a license to loot without interference by the restraining hand of the court. I do not know who drew the plan. I do know that those who propose to put it through proposed to feather their nests at the expense of the depositors of the Oriental Bank. That the whole scheme was a fake is proven by the fact that the original plan was doctored for my benefit and for public consumption after temporary receivers had been appointed by the court, and I have in my possession the proof.

"I am charged by those who are disappointed because I headed off their scheme to enrich themselves with having prevented the consummation of a contract by which the depositors of the Oriental Bank would have been paid immediately and in full.

Calls for Payment of Depositors.

"There never was any contract proposed by which the depositors were to be paid immediately and in full, and I charge that it never was the intention to pay them immediately and in full. If there ever was such a plan intended in good faith, let the Metropolitan Trust Company deposit in the Corn Exchange Bank, the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company, or any other similarly substantial institution the amount necessary to pay the creditors of the Oriental Bank, and I will at once move to discharge the temporary receivers, but the scheme must be stripped of the features which provide for the counsel fees for Mr. Menken, big commissions for private receivers called liquidating officers, outrageous bonuses, and a free hand generally for the insiders to dip into the assets of the bank.

"The fact that Mr. Menken carefully refrained from acquainting me with the details of the plan until last night, and then not until I demanded them in writing, is significant as indicating its character.

"So far as Mr. Menken is concerned, I do not believe that the depositors of the Oriental Bank should forget that this is the same Menken who protested so loudly when I applied for receivers for the looted Brooklyn Bank and the International Trust Company. His protests then were followed by indictments, and now that he has protested against receivers for the Oriental Bank, I deem it my duty to proceed upon the assumption that the affairs of that bank should be subjected to careful Grand Jury investigation.

"I am informed that this man Menken has been haranguing public meetings of depositors and insinuating bad faith on my part, although privately he has been sending to me expressions of his great admiration and regard.

"The agreement between the Oriental Bank and the Metropolitan Trust Company provides for the payment of the sum of $200,000 to the Metropolitan Trust Company 'for its services and for the moneys advanced in the bank to enable it to pay the New York Clearing House Association'; that the Metropolitan Trust Company shall receive 6 per cent. interest on the amount of daily balances due the trust company by the bank for money advanced; 'that the Liquidating Committee appointed by the agreement, consisting of J. G. Cannon, Brayton Ives, and Hugh Kelly, shall each receive a salary, to be determined by agreement between the Liquidating Committee and the Bank Committee, consisting of Hugh Kelly, Charles E. Levy, and R. W. Jones, Jr., and that the Liquidating Committee shall have a secretary, who shall also receive a salary to be fixed by a similar agreement.'

"The amount of the salary of the members of the Liquidating Committee, although not expressed in the agreement, I understand, has been fixed at the sum of $15,000 a year each, that Messrs. Philbin, Beekman, and Menken shall be the counsel for the Liquidating Committee in all legal proceedings necessary for the collection of the assets of the bank, whose compensation is not fixed by the agreement, but is to be fixed by the Liquidating Committee; that the time and method of liquidation of assets of the bank shall be subject to the sole discretion and determination of the Liquidating Committee.

Powers of Bank Committee.

"The Bank Committee, appointed by the agreement, consisting of Hugh Kelly, C. E. Levy, and R. W. Jones, Jr., with full power to represent and act for and on behalf of the bank in all matters, is given the specific power 'to vary or alter the terms of the agreement as they may from time to time deem fit and proper'; thus conferring upon these three men of the Bank Committee all the powers possessed by the Directors and stockholders.

"The Metropolitan Trust Company agrees: 'First, to pay the bank's debt to the Clearing House of $1,125,000; second, to pay the other creditors of the bank the amounts due them, respectively.'

"This is the provision of the agreement as it was presented to me for the first time last night, and in my presence Mr. Menken wrote the word 'immediately' in lead pencil after the word 'respectively,' and that was the first time that any such proposition was ever submitted to me, and it was done by Mr. Menken as I have stated, no representative of the trust company, the Banking Committee, or the Liquidating Committee being present.

"The net result of the agreement is that the Oriental Bank is to pay the Metropolitan Trust Company 6 per cent. for twenty-two months on all moneys advanced by it, and $200,000 bonus for so doing, and the Liquidating Committee $45,000 a year, and if the receivership lasts for two years, $90,000; a Secretary probably a like amount, and Philbin, Beekman & Menken fees much greater than would be allowed by a court to attorneys for receivers. In addition all the incidental expenses of maintaining an or-

WAITED TILL SHE DIED.

Real Tragedy of a Patient Wife and a Vanished Husband.

People passing the house at 108 Berry Street, Williamsburg, yesterday, could still see the form of Mrs. Margaret Dunn in the big chair at the front window. And now and then one of them who knew about her explained to a friend:

"She's waiting for her husband to come home. He has disappeared again. Sad case. You see, he was pretty well off once, and lived up on Bedford Avenue. Things went wrong, and he took less pretentious rooms here. Then, about a month ago, because of thinking about what he had lost, perhaps, he went a bit out of his head. He was old, anyhow—older than his wife there. She is 55 herself. He forgot where he lived while out walking, and it was several days before he came home.

"He found his home because while passing through the street here he happened to see his wife at the window. He could not forget her. The sight of her brought him back. So when he went away again, about a week ago, she sent the police after him and then took her seat by the window in the big chair. She is patient."

Others saw the form of old Mrs. Dunn sitting there. Ten-year-old Lizzie Files of 113 Berry Street and eight-year-old Jenny Pease of 76 North Eighth Street, following a custom of months, went to see old Mrs. Dunn yesterday morning. These favorites of hers saw her sitting by the window. They waved to her, but the eyes had a far-away look in them and didn't see the little girls. So they decided to play a trick on her.

Quietly they opened the door. Jennie tiptoed up behind the chair and put her hands over old Mrs. Dunn's eyes. They waited for a painful explosion. The clock ticked on. The old gray cat purred. But old Mrs. Dunn made no outcry. The little girls jumped around in front of her, exclaiming:

"Booh! That scared you, anyhow!"

They stared at old Mrs. Dunn a full minute, and then fled screaming from the house.

That's how they found out that old Mrs. Dunn had been dead since Saturday night. Her husband is still missing.

CASTRO WON'T ARBITRATE.

Rejects Proposal for Conference on American Claims Against Venezuela.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—Efforts of the State Department to get Venezuela to arbitrate the questions which have been pending for some time between the Castro Administration and the American Government have failed. This time the refusal of the Catro Government is made specific with respect to each of the questions separately. This would seem to make it plain that diplomacy can accomplish nothing further toward settling those controversies.

It is probable that Congress will be asked to pass a resolution authorizing the President to take such measures as he finds necessary to secure prompt and effective redress of these grievances. The last time such a resolution was passed Venezuela promptly settled.

The five claims pressed by the United States were A. F. Jaurett, who was expelled from the country; the Orinoco Corporation, which claims large concessions covering iron mines, asphalt privileges, and hardwood concessions; the Orinoco Steamship Company, which claims exclusive rights of navigation on branches of the Orinoco River; the New York and Bermudez Asphalt Concession, which claims the right to take asphalt from La Felicidad Lake, and the United States and Venezuelan Company, which asserts that it had been deprived of the right to mine asphalt and build a railroad. The claims run into millions.

FISH OUT OF BOARD.

But He Blocks One Harriman Plan by Keeping Away from Meeting.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, March 3.—Stuyvesant Fish did not attend the annual meeting of the Illinois Central Railroad late this afternoon and upset the plans of E. H. Harriman by keeping all his proxies locked up in his valise at the Auditorium Annex. The Harriman faction had a majority of all the stock and was enabled to elect its candidate for Director, replacing Mr. Fish on the board, but did not have the two-thirds vote necessary to carry out the plans of buying two branch railroads.

The Harriman forces marshaled 583,162 votes out of a total of 950,040. It was said that Mr. Fish held proxies for 302,000 shares.

The Directors elected were E. H. Harriman, John Jacob Astor, and Joseph F. Titus for the term ending October, 1911, and A. G. Hackstaff to serve out the unexpired term of J. C. Welling, ending October, 1908. All these are Harriman men, and Mr. Titus, who is assistant to President Harahan, will resign at once and J. Ogden Armour will be elected to the vacancy by the Board of Directors.

This arrangement was necessary because Mr. Armour is not yet a stockholder of record. The stock books of the company are closed, and he cannot become a stockholder of record until the meeting adjourns, when the stock books will be open.

WOMAN CATCHES A BURGLAR.

Pursues Him to Central Park and Holds On—Stole Wedding Presents.

It was the sight of her disappearing wedding presents, according to Mrs. Gute Govern of 56 East 107th Street, that gave her the courage to chase and capture an alleged thief yesterday.

Mrs. Govern had gone out on a shopping trip in the afternoon, leaving her flat unoccupied. She returned just in time to see two young men hurrying from the apartment. Mrs. Govern saw that the place had been ransacked and silverware and cut glass which had been given to her at her wedding a few months ago taken.

"That gave me the nerve to chase them," said Mrs. Govern later to Magistrate Breen, in the Harlem Court. "I just couldn't bear to see any one get my pretty presents."

Mrs. Govern started after the young men. Both ran toward Central Park. The first threw a bundle over the Park wall and escaped. She caught the second by the legs just as he started over the wall. Mrs. Govern held on, calling for help. Patrolman Gleason of the East 104th Street Station arrested the man, who was squirming desperately to escape.

The prisoner gave his name as David Cappell, 21 years old, of 67 Eldridge Street. He had several pieces of Mrs. Govern's silverware and cut glass in his overcoat pockets, and was held in $1,000 bail for examination to-day.

MAYOR AND MURPHY LUNCH TOGETHER

Whereupon All the Politicians Say That This Time Peace Is No Dream.

AN ANTI-BRYAN ALLIANCE

That's the Interpretation Put Upon It—Mayor Talked of for President, Vice President, and Governor.

Mayor George B. McClellan and Leader Charles F. Murphy of Tammany Hall lunched together yesterday at the Hardware Club and smoked the perfecto of peace. It was the first time since the beginning of the Mayor's present term in office that the two had broken bread together. As a result the political rumormongers are already busy with the Mayor's name, and he is slated to become either Vice Presidential nominee or a candidate for the Governorship. The rumors even spoke of him as a possible Presidential nominee.

Rumors aside, the meeting was regarded by astute politicians as of the utmost significance politically and as indicative of the probability of the Mayor's becoming an important figure in the forthcoming National and State campaign. It was construed particularly as an anti-Bryan move, indicating the instruction of the delegation from this State to the Denver Convention in favor of a candidate other than the Nebraskan.

The Mayor and William F. Sheehan entered the club together and sat down at a table in the main dining room. Then Mr. Murphy and Daniel F. Cohalan came in and sat down two tables away.

Simultaneously, according to onlookers, Mr. Murphy and the Mayor looked up. Their eyes met. Each bowed, and then by common impulse both rose. The Mayor advanced toward Mr. Murphy and Mr. Murphy advanced toward the Mayor. They smiled and shook hands heartily, moving in the direction of the Mayor's table.

"How do you do, Mr. Mayor?" said Mr. Murphy. "How do you do, Mr. Sheehan?"

"How are you, Mr. Murphy?" said the Mayor. "Won't you sit at our table and have luncheon?"

From all indications the two might have been the closest friends. Mr. Murphy and Mr. Cohalan took seats at the Mayor's table and throughout the meal, which lasted more than an hour, the utmost good feeling evidently prevailed. It is understood that not one word was spoken on either side about "the late unpleasantness," primary fights, or any one of the things which heretofore have been advanced as reasons for disagreement between the two.

At the close of the luncheon, after the cigars, the Mayor and the Tammany leader shook hands again. Mr. Murphy and Mr. Cohalan entered a waiting automobile, while the Mayor and Mr. Sheehan walked across City Hall Park to the entrance of the City Hall, where they parted, the Mayor going back to his office.

The story of the meeting between the two was the main topic of conversation in the club during the afternoon, and soon found its way to the City Hall and other points where politicians congregate. Last night Mr. Murphy was asked about the meeting.

"The story as you have it is correct," he said. "There never was any war, you know."

Since peace was declared between the Mayor and Murphy there has been a large amount of speculation as to the extent of their friendly relations. The meeting yesterday is regarded as indicating beyond any doubt that the peace is to be lasting, and that it covers the entire city. That is to say, Senator McCarren, Democratic boss of Brooklyn, and the Mayor's chief political adviser, is as much in the Tammany fold as is the Mayor himself.

That those interested in bringing about complete harmony in the Democratic ranks in this city and State were responsible for peace in the first place and for the meeting yesterday, is not doubted. The chief aim ascribed to those thus engaged is firmly believed to be the defeat of Bryan. Yesterday's incident was taken as indicating that whatever strength McClellan may have, working in harmony with Tammany, will be thrown against the Nebraskan in the convention. The belief is freely expressed that McClellan will be named by Tammany, either for the Presidency or for the Vice Presidency, not necessarily in the hope of obtaining either nomination for him, but solely in the hope of solidifying the delegation from this State against Bryan.

Some of those who indulge in long-distance forecasts recalled last night that a weekly political paper which has been very friendly to the Mayor, came out last week with "Johnson and McClellan" as its ticket, and taking this as a ground work asserted that it is the intention of Tammany to put forward McClellan for the Vice Presidency, and if he fails of nomination, to put him up for Governor at the Fall State Convention.

JACKSON MUST GO TO PRISON.

Ex-Coroner's Conviction for Bribery Affirmed by the Court of Appeals.

Word reached the District Attorney's office yesterday that the verdict of guilty found against ex-Coroner Jackson some years ago on the charge of accepting a bribe in connection with the conviction of a doctor had just been affirmed by the Court of Appeals at Albany.

The first trial was held before Recorder Goff. After the conviction Recorder Goff suspended sentence. Since then Jackson has been out on bail.

The case was appealed by the county, and yesterday's decision was the result. As soon as the papers are received Jackson's bondsmen will be notified to surrender him and he will be sent to prison. The maximum penalty for his crime is ten years in State prison.

Capt. Charles O. Gumalius of the Fourteenth Regiment, Brooklyn, received word yesterday of the death in Sweden of his uncle, Arvid Gumalius, Speaker of the Swedish Parliament, who leaves an estate said to be worth several millions of dollars. Capt. Gumalius says he expects to inherit, as his share of the estate, about $1,000,000.

FOR 1,000-FOOT LINERS.

Harland & Wolff Yards in Belfast Are Preparing to Build Them.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, March 3.—Work has been begun at the Harland & Wolff shipyard at Belfast on new slips which will permit the building of liners of much greater dimensions than any yet designed. Here will be laid down the keel of the mammoth White Star boat for the Southampton-New York passenger traffic, which will mark an epoch in shipbuilding.

The new slips will permit the construction of vessels of the enormous length of 1,000 feet, with proportionate beam, depth, and weight.

The longest steamship now afloat is the Mauretania of the Cunard Line. She is 790 feet long.

CHICAGO WANTS BIG TOMB.

Museum Seeks Permission to Remove a 250-Ton Relic from Egypt.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, March 3.—Dispatches from Assouan, Egypt, state that negotiations have been begun there by a representative of a Chicago museum, probably the Field Columbian, for the transference to that city of an ancient tomb weighing 250 tons.

The tomb is situated near the Pyramid of Sakkara, twenty miles from Cairo, and a favorite resort of tourists. The Chicago museum authorities wish to remove it in its entirety. The most difficult part of this task would be the removal of the tomb, when it is divided into sections, from the desert to the nearest point on the railway.

It is believed by the police authorities of Chihuahua that the robbery was committed by expert American bank robbers.

WOULD FORM A NEW SECT.

Pastor of London's City Temple Appeals to the Free Churchmen.

LONDON, March 3.—The Rev. R. J. Campbell, pastor of City Temple, publishes a letter addressed to all free churchmen and other sympathizers, proposing to form a new sect and organization for an active propaganda in behalf of his "new theology," the central idea of which is the denial of the divine origin of Christ, whom he regards as a social reformer.

Mr. Campbell's reason for this step, he says, is the hostile attitude of the official element in the churches to the new movement.

OLD CLOCK TO TICK AGAIN.

South Dial of Jefferson Market Timepiece Has Been Silent Three Years.

For the first time in three years the ancient clock on the south side of the Jefferson Market Tower will soon again tick off the minutes for the residents of old Greenwich Village. Its failure to do so during the interval brought many complaints from the residents who had looked to the clock for guidance ever since it was installed in 1875.

Until three years ago the clock never missed a minute since it was installed thirty years before. But one morning "Smoky Moke," a negro character of the neighborhood, shot a hole through the south clock.

"Ah didn't like its face," he explained when arrested.

Recently the Building Department had the clock fixed.

Littlefield of Austin to-day closed a deal for the sale of his 300,000 acre ranch, which comprises nearly all the land in Lamb and Hockley Counties in the Pan Handle of Texas to a syndicate of Chicago men closely identified with the interests of Swift & Co., packers.

He disposed of 20,000 cattle and 500 saddle horses with the land. The total consideration was approximately $3,000,000.

The opposition ticket swept St. John City and the majority of the other constituencies. It is expected that the next Premier will be J. Douglas Hazen, the leader of the opposition forces.

FINDS DEATH AT LAST.

Grant, Who Jumped from Brooklyn Bridge, Dies by Gas.

John Grant, the ex-prizefighter, who had tried suicide six times and who jumped off Brooklyn Bridge about two weeks ago after cutting the veins in his wrists and drinking carbolic acid, only to recover later in the Hudson Street Hospital after the crew of a tug boat had rescued him from the river, killed himself last night in his home, 187 Dean Street, Brooklyn, by taking gas. Grant's body was found in bed by his sister-in-law, Mrs. William Grant, with whom he lived, at 1:15 o'clock this morning.

She called Dr. Elder from the Long Island College Hospital and he said the man had been dead for some time. Grant was 31 years old. He had been despondent recently.

TO DRIVE ANARCHISTS OUT OF THE COUNTRY

Secretary Straus Orders Immigration Men to Co-operate with Police in Locating Criminals.

INDORSED BY ROOSEVELT

Added Precautions to be Taken in Excluding Aliens—Three Assassinations Were Plotted in Chicago.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—The United States has declared open war on Anarchists. As a result of the great increase in crime and the growing boldness of those who are enlisted under the red flag, Commissioners of Immigration and immigrant Inspectors have been instructed by Secretary Straus of the Department of Commerce and Labor to ally themselves with the police and detectives of the cities and aid in putting an end to terrorism. The order was issued to-day, and is said to have the hearty indorsement of President Roosevelt.

Secretary Straus orders that the immigration authorities shall take steps necessary to "securing the co-operation of the police and detective forces in an effort to rid the country of alien Anarchists and criminals falling within the law relating to deportation."

Secretary Straus's Order.

The order of Secretary Straus follows:

"To all Commissioners of Immigration and Immigrant Inspectors in charge: It is hereby directed that, with a view to promptly obtaining definite information with regard to alien Anarchists and criminals located in the United States, you shall confer fully with the Chief of Police or the Chief of the Secret Service of the city in which you are located, furnishing such official with detailed information with regard to the meaning of the term 'Anarchist,' as used in the Immigration act of Feb. 20, 1907, and with regard to the inhibition of that statute against aliens of the criminal classes, explaining the powers and limitations imposed by said statute upon the immigration officials with respect to such persons.

"You should call to the attention of the Chief of Police or Chief of the Secret Service the definition of 'Anarchist' contained in Sections 2 and 38 of the act of Feb. 20, 1907, and the provisions of Section 2 placing within the excluded classes 'persons who have been convicted of or admit having committed a felony or other crime or misdemeanor involving moral turpitude,' pointing out that if any such person is found within the United States within three years after landing or entry therein he is amenable to deportation under the provisions of Section 21 of said act.

"The co-operation of said officials should be requested, making it clear that in order that any particular Anarchist or criminal may be deported, evidence must be furnished showing (1) that the person in question is an alien subject to the immigration acts; (2) that he is an Anarchist or criminal as defined in the statute; (3) the date of his arrival in the United States, which must be within three years of the date of his arrest; (4) the name of the vessel or of the transportation line by which he came, if possible, and (5) the name of the country whence he came, the details with respect to the last three items being kept at the various ports of entry in such a manner as to be available if information is furnished with respect to the Anarchist's name, the date of his arrival, and the port of entry.

"It is desired that the above indicated steps shall be taken at once and that no proper effort shall be spared to secure and retain the co-operation of the local police and detective forces in an effort to rid the country of alien Anarchists and criminals falling within the provisions of the statute relating to deportation."

Uneasy Over Anarchy's Spread.

The Administration has viewed with increasing uneasiness the spread of Anarchy and Socialistic teachings. The threats made against citizens of wealth and position are becoming more numerous with every month. The attempt to kill the Chief of Police of Chicago, the riot in Philadelphia following the dispersal of an Anarchistic meeting, and the threats made against clergymen have brought the Government to a realization that something must be done to make life and property more secure.

With the activity of the immigration authorities and the police in running down criminals in the United States, there will be taken added precautions against admitting to the country any more of the same class. The examination of the hordes of aliens that come yearly to these shores will be made so severe that it will in the future partake of the nature of an inquisition. The Government is beginning to realize that it has been employing too lax methods in the past.

A case in point, they say, is the presence in this country of Emma Goldman. This woman is declared to be a firebrand and an Anarchist of the most rabid type. She went abroad some months ago, and at that time it was openly stated that she would not be readmitted to the country. In spite of these declarations Miss Goldman is back again in the United States spreading the propaganda of revolutionary Socialism.

It is cases such as these, in the opinion of officials, that lend encouragement to the vicious element. The laws, in the first place, are held to be too lenient, and, secondly, they are not administered with the severity the situation demands. More stringent laws, coupled with emphatic application of them, are said to be the crying need of the time.

As the law now stands, an Anarchist may go about unmolested by the police after he has spent three years in this country, and has not been connected with the perpetration of a crime in that time. He is immune from deportation. It does not matter whether the criminal is a citizen or not, he can legally resist all efforts to return him to the country from whence he came.

Possible to Exclude Anarchists.

It is possible, however, under the existing law to exclude Anarchists. The law declares that, among others, there may be excluded from the country "anarchists, or persons who believe in or advocate the overthrow by force or violence of the Government of the United States or of all government or of all forms of law, or the assassination of public officials."

Section 20 of the Immigration act, which covers the exclusion of aliens, provides: "That any alien who shall enter the United States in violation of the law shall, upon the warrant of the Secretary of Commerce and Labor, be taken into custody and deported to the country whence he came at any time within three years after the date of his entry into the United States."

Section 21 provides "that in case the Secretary of Commerce and Labor shall be satisfied that an alien has been found in the United States in violation of this act, or that an alien is subject to deportation under any law of the United States, he shall cause such alien within the period of three years after landing to be taken into custody and returned to the country whence he came."

This makes it mandatory upon the Secretary to deport any alien Anarchist whom he may discover who has not been in the country three years.

General Enemies of Society.

In addition to these provisions, which ordinarily would cover the case of an Anarchist, a separate section dealing with enemies of society generally was included in the act. Section 38 says:

"That no person who believes in or who is opposed to all organized government, or who is a member of or affiliated with any organization entertaining and teaching such disbelief in or opposition to all organized government, or who advocates or teaches the duty, necessity, or propriety of the unlawful assaulting or killing of any officer or officers, whether of specific individuals or of officers generally, of the Government of the United States or of any other organized government, because of his or their official character, shall be permitted to enter the United States or any territory or place subject to the jurisdiction thereof.

"This section shall be enforced by the Secretary of Commerce and Labor under such rules and regulations as he shall prescribe. That any person who knowingly aids or assists any such person to enter the United States or any territory or place subject to the jurisdiction thereof, or who connives or conspires wih any person or persons to allow, procure, or permit any such person to enter therein, except pursuant to such rules and regulations made by the Secretary of Commerce and Labor shall be fined not more than $5,000, or imprisoned for not more than five years, or both."

ELEVEN ANARCHISTS ARRESTED

Chicago Police Say Ballots Were Drawn for Three Assassinations.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Ill., March 3.—The Chicago police made eleven arrests to-day of Anarchists suspected of being implicated in the plot to assassinate Chief of Police Shippy, Mayor Busse, Detective O'Brien, and other city officials connected with the curbing of the "Reds" in this city. The principal basis of the plot, as unraveled by the police, is a memorandum torn from an ordinary desk pad. It bears the date "Feb. 28," and upon it is written "George M. Shippy, 31st Lincoln Court or City Hall." Then appear the figures "63."

The writing is not like the known writing of Lazarus Averbuch, the Anarchist killed while attacking Shippy. The police aver the memorandum was the ballot drawn by Averbuch at a secret meeting of Anarchists Friday night, and that it ordered him to assassinate the Chief of Police either at his home or the City Hall. The police aver that other ballots exist, one selecting the agent for the removal of Mayor Busse and one for Detective Chief O'Brien.

The Anarchists arrested to-day include the following: Olga Averbuch, sister of the youth slain by Shippy; Isadore Maron, companion of Averbuch, believed by the police to be the head of the conspiracy. Edward Borman, 40 years old, a shoemaker, arrested after a telephone message telling him to flee for his life for the jig was up had been intercepted; police believe plotters met in Borman's shop? Tonitis Korimoros, a bartender in the saloon kept by Mrs. Mary Adams, at 640 Canal Street; Averbuch is believed to have gone under the name of Adams. Mrs. Mary Adams, keeper of the saloon; Harry Goldstein, a peddler of Anarchists' pamphlets, believed to have been the man that waited outside Shippy's house while Averbuch attacked Shippy, and William L. Obramovitch, a printer.

Among the prisoners held by the police are a woman and a man whose identity is kept from the public.

The police aver that among the prisoners are the two who drew the ballots designating them as the agents for the removal of Mayor Busse and Detective Chief O'Brien.

The police authorities to-day invoked the assistance of United States District Attorney Sims in an effort to have the known Anarchists in Chicago deported under the laws of the United States. The District Attorney promised to take up the matter at once.

The real story of the life of Lazarus Averbuch came out to-night for the first time since he was identified as the would-be assassin of the Chief of Police. Averbuch was the son of one of the leading wheat merchants of Southern Russia, operating at Odessa and Kichineff. At the time of the Kishineff massacre the elder Averbuch and his family lived in that ill-fated city. The old man was worth probably $50,000. Lazarus was educated at the College of Kishineff. He spoke four languages, besides a smattering of English, and had been reared as a rich man's son. Then came the massacre, which shocked the world.

The elder Averbuch was slain by the Russian mob. A girl, older than Olga, was murdered. The Averbuch home was looted and burned. The remnants of the family were thrown upon the world penniless. Olga came to Chicago and three months ago brought Lazarus here.

He had never been taught to work. Forced to take menial wages in a distasteful employment, he brooded constantly over his fancied wrongs at the hands of society. Then he fell in with the Anarchists and was an eager convert of their doctrines. He attended their meetings almost nightly, and his sister now ascribes his death to his association with the "Reds."

In spite of the fact that Olga Averbuch is in a cell, the police do not hope to connect her with the plot.

City Officials are Armed.

Following the attack upon Chief Shippy, Mayor Busse, Judge George Kersten of the Criminal Court, and Assistant State's Attorney Short all purchased revolvers and prepared to resist personal violence on the part of any person whose enmity they might incur by the performance of their duties.

Frank Zajicek was arrested to-day, charged with sending a threatening letter to a Roman Catholic clergyman, Procopius Nuzil, a prior of the Benedictine Fathers. The prisoner, who is 38 years old and lives at 584 Blue Island Avenue, admitted sending a demand for $1,000 to the priest, according to the police.

Harry Shippy, who was shot twice in the breast while defending his father against Averbuch's attack, will recover from his wounds.

DEPORTATION DIFFICULT NOW.

Need of a Broader Law Covering Secret Society Members.

Robert Watchorn, Commissioner of Immigration, said last night that Secretary Straus's order had not been received by him.

"Every immigration officer will be happy to comply with the order of the Secretary of Commerce and Labor," said the Commissioner, "and, personally, I have all along been giving this matter earnest attention. Under our present law, however, any alien who commits a crime in this country after arriving cannot be deported, as the law provides that this can only happen if the immigrant is known to have a criminal record in the country where he comes from. Even in this case it is made most difficult, for a certified copy of his criminal record from abroad has to be received before we can deport him.

"What is needed is appropriate action by Congress. Strong action is necessary. I would go as far as to say that every alien who is known to be a member of such societies as the Hunchakist, Mafia, or Black Hand should be instantly deported. Don't wait for them to commit a crime, but take their membership of such a society as an evidence that they would commit crime.

"These men fear deportation a great deal more than they do a term of imprisonment here. At present this is difficult. Last year we sent back 300 of these criminals, which is a much larger number than a few years ago, but if we had the necessary law they would go back in thousands. Most of these 300 were fugitives from justice, whom the various Consuls General had advance information about. Of course, the Immigration Department has to rely on the Police Department for the facts on which we can deport criminals, and Gen. Bingham has his hands tied in this respect to a very large extent, owing to the present law."

HAVEN'T THREATENED FARLEY.

Merely a Yarn About Special Police for the Archbishop.

Police Commissioner Bingham said yesterday that there was no foundation for the story printed in afternoon newspapers that Archbishop Farley had recently been threatened by Anarchists and that detectives were guarding the archiepiscopal residence, in Madison Avenue.

"The only foundation for that tale," said Gen. Bingham, "was that Archbishop Farley's name was among those of a number of other prominent people in an anonymous crank letter received at Police Headquarters about six months ago. Hundreds of prominent people receive these crank letters. If they paid attention to them they would have little time for anything else.

"It is equally untrue," continued the Commissioner, "that I have caused an additional detail of police to be sent to the financial district on account of threatening letters received by Wall Street men."

Gen. Bingham said, however, that police would be on the lookout for strange Anarchists who might come to this city and that they would be properly cared for on arrival.

TREASURY FACES A DEFICIT.

City Bank Circular Says It May Come at the End of June.

Stress is laid on the decreasing revenues of the United States Treasury in the National City Bank's circular for March, which points out that before August the Treasury will have to decide upon the treatment to be given to the 3 per cent. bonds of 1908-18, put out during the Spanish-American war.

"As February closed with the Treasury in possession of an available cash balance amounting to $267,000,000," says the circular, "it would seem at first blush that redemption in whole or in part of the outstanding 3s of 1908-18 would be a matter of easy accomplishment six months hence. But there is no denying the fact that the country has entered upon a period of declining revenues, and there is no denying the fact either that expenditures continue to increase beyond the point of time at which they were expected to decline."

The circular goes on to show the rapid rate at which the falling off in revenue has exceeded the preliminary estimates of its retrogression, which had been foreseen in the last report of the Secretary of the Treasury. The net loss, as compared with the fiscal year 1907, was figured at $43,000,000, which would have left a surplus for this year of $42,000,000. Now only eight months of the current fiscal year have passed and there is a deficit of $27,247,000, as compared with a surplus for the same period last year of $40,657,000. The indications point with more or less certainty, the circular says, to a deficiency for the fiscal year to end June 30.

In view of the indicated state of affairs the National City Bank authority believes that the chances are in favor of a continuation of the Spanish war bonds in whole or in part.

AUTO RACE LEADER CLOSE TO OMAHA

right away, and have it built in two months. Make your choice between the ten patterns or more.

The builder of the house which would cost in France 100,000f. will ask from you first $10; second, a rent of $30 and 5 per cent. interest on the money. You pay year by year the $3,000 to $5,000 with a smaller rent than you would pay for a very common flat in Paris, and you remain landlord of the well-built house.

Now there is an objection. You say: "I have no place to put such a house. I could perhaps buy for $5,000 suitable ground in the country, but I must first get those $5,000. After all, I shall have to pay for gas pipes, water pipes, electric line, telephone, and so on. I am not rich enough to buy for $10 such a fine mansion."

I beg your pardon, dear man of the old country. In the house of $10 you have the gas, the water, the electricity, the telephone. You may have, of course, to add something to the $10, but not much. In a few words I will tell you why. The Americans make towns.

Some owner of capital or a company connected wit railroad lines or railways buys at a low price a big part of the country near this railroad or railway. Then the place is divided into sections worth $100 or more. Large roads are opened with electric light, telephone lines, pipes, and everything that a French millionaire has not always.

All that is made ready before anything else. The place of a future town is settled and buyers come easily in a well-located place where they find for $100, paid by the month, sections of ground where they can put the ten-dollar fine cottage.

All the furniture is bought right away and paid by the month. So are the chairs, tables, beds of the finest and latest patterns, and the town looks as if it were being occupied by millionaires. The millionaires only have no money to buy such houses.

They prefer to live at the hotel and to invest their capital in allotments and in starting new cities. That is the way America enjoys so many towns, which grow up every day.

CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa, March 3.—The French De Dion car in the New York to Paris race will be delayed here at least two days and perhaps three. In reaching this city yesterday the car not only broke a spring but injured its steering gear so that it cannot proceed.

An examination was made of the parts affected, and it has been found that one part has to be replaced and a new spring substituted. This cannot be done in less time than forty-eight hours.

Mechanicians were busy on the car all day to-day, and will rush the work tomorrow in the hope that the French crew will be able to go ahead Thursday afternoon if possible.

MOTOBLOC REACHES CHICAGO.

Banquet for Tired Crew—Godard Tells About Indiana Charges.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, March 3.—The long-awaited Motobloc, driven by Baron Charles Godard, the second French car in the New York to Paris automobile race, arrived here at 3:20 this afternoon.

The car was placed in the Chicago Automobile Club garage, and the party taken in charge by the Reception Committee, A. J. Banta, Fred Leiser, and many enthusiastic members of the club, who went out in their cars to meet the Motobloc. A banquet was given the crew to-night.

This was "ladies' day" at the club. Several speeches were made, and Ira M. Cobe, President, acted as toastmaster. He said that the Chicago Automobile Club wished to treat all the contestants alike, and had prepared the banquet to prove its hospitality as it had done for the others.

In an interview to-night Baron Godard said:

"Parbleu! but I have had a long time in Indiana. Snow we have had in plenty, and expense—whew!—we have plenty, too. Every place they want to charge us $5 to sleep on the ground, and I say, 'What for? I will pay nothing.'

"If I must pay to sleep on the ground I will buy one lot for $500 in the cemetery, and I can sleep on the ground for always. Is it not so? But the people they do not consider the cost of the travel. They say, 'Hang the expense; you will win.'

"That may be true, but how can I hang the expense when they charge me high, and I have him always with me? One other place we stop for dinner at the house of a peasant—I think you call him farmer. They give us one good dinner of some chicken and make us one fine welcome.

"When I say, 'How much I pay for Monsieur Hue, Monsieur Llevier, and myself?'—three dinners, that is all—they say, 'Five dollars.' 'What for you charge me $5?' I tell the peasant.

"'Yes,' the farmer say, 'you folks eat my two chickens; they are my pet chickens; they play in the kitchen with my children.' Oh! that is too much; his pet chickens! What for he cook his pet chickens? We go to one other place, and we come late, and the inn door is open, but the people they are all asleep. We make a noise, and the landlord he comes down very mad, and say, 'If you don't stop the noise I will have you put in one jug.'

"I tell him all right, if we must take one jug it must be the one jug of wine. He laugh himself all over, and say, 'Oh, yes, you are the foreigners with the horseo-mobiles. Well, strangers, make yourselfs at home,' and he gives us one grand room.

"Ah, he was a fine gentleman, and he had one fine beard, but when I say, 'How much we pay?' he say, 'Five dollar.' When I ask what for he says he charge $5 for the room, and ask me if I expect the inn for $5.

"Strange country, that; it is one strange country that Indiana; everything you buy is $5. One place we have two horses to help the car. Thatt was $5. One other place we have one horse to help the car. It also $5, but the people they give us one grand welcome, and treat us like fine gentlemen, so we must say nothing, for they are very kind.

"It is not the fault of the people of Indiana, if they have much snow and ice like Alaska. They think they must have the big charge like Alaska. They make it not much trouble for to count, because all the thing is, well, I told you, $5."

Capt. George E. Dihel and Sergeant Frank I. Folsom, Central Office men of the City Detective Bureau, met the crew of the Motobloc at the Automobile Club and took a list and description of the property stolen from the Motobloc Feb. 25 at Wawaka, Ind.

HOBART, Ind., March 3.—We arrived here at 10 o'clock this morning, after paying $120 for traveling thirty miles, and having passed two nights in the snow. On Sunday night we were overtaken by a terrible storm—thunder, lightning, and frozen rain.

The next morning my automobile was a solid block of ice. It took three hours and ten horses to get the Motobloc car out of the ice. It was impossible to telegraph to THE NEW YORK TIMES from the point where we were stuck, as all the wires had been broken by the storm. This is becoming discouraging. The Protos car has had to stop for repairs.

CHESTERTON, Ind., March 3.—The injury sustained by the German Protos car in the New York to Paris race, which caused the car to remain idle here all yesterday, again prevented it going on to-day.

In consequence it was left behind by the French Motobloc, which went on to Chicago. It is expected by the German army officers in charge of the car that it will be able to proceed to-morrow.

AFTER MOTOBLOC THIEVES.

Indiana Sheriff Very Active and Confident They Will Be Caught.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Wawaka, where the French automobile was looted, is six miles northwest of this place, and our people condemn most emphatically the great injustice done the French drivers.

The Sheriff assured me to-day everything possible is being done to catch the thieves and recover the goods. He had two men on the ground the morning after the robbery, and feels positive the thieves will be caught and the goods recovered. The Sheriff and Prosecutor are taking a very active interest in the case. Trusting you will soon hear of the recovery of the goods and the thieves brought to justice, I am yours truly,

A Letter in the Black Hand Style Alarms the Village.

Special to The New York Times.

GOSHEN, Ind., March 3.—Wawaka, the little town of 300 inhabitants in Noble County where the French Motobloc car was robbed of its contents last week, has attracted the attention of an Eastern joker or Black Hander. A letter postmarked New York has been received by Constable Lyman Thompson, in which $750 is demanded from the town. The letter contains the threat that if the money is not delivered at a certain point in New York within two weeks the town will be blown to atoms, and is signed "Anarchists." Some of the inhabitants are reported to have found it convenient to employ the leisure of this season of snow and rain to visit relatives in other towns. The letter has been forwarded to the Post Office Department at Washington.

Steps are being taken to guard the town. Owing to Black Hand outrages in New York and the attack on Chief of Police Shippy in Chicago even the scoffers are somewhat concerned.

HIGHWAYMEN CAUGHT.

Two Footpads Set Upon Broker McLeod—Soared Off by Women.

Because Detective Goss happened to be near yesterday morning between 1 and 2 o'clock when a hold-up was accomplished in Ninety-eighth Street, between Columbus and Amsterdam Avenues, the two highwaymen succeeded in getting only a pair of diamond cuff buttons before both were arrested.

Norman J. McLeod, a broker connected with the banking firm of W. T. Wintemute of 17 Battery Place, went to the Knickerbocker Theatre Monday night, returning to his home, the West Point Apartments, 336 West Ninety-fifth Street, with his wife, about 1 o'clock yesterday morning. He decided he would take a walk before going to bed, and meanwhile mail a letter.

He walked to Columbus Avenue and turned west toward Amsterdam Avenue. About half way down the block he met two young men, both fairly well dressed, one tall, the other short. The tall one wore a paddock coat, which later helped to identify him.

When they came abreast of Mr. McLeod the big fellow hit him a thundering blow on the head, and Mr. McLeod fell back dazed. Then the two went to work on him, beginning with his cuff buttons, the diamonds in which had excited their greed.

Two young men with women companions had seen the assault from across the street. The women ran toward Amsterdam Avenue screaming, and Detective Goss, who heard them, came running up Amsterdam Avenue.

The cries of the women, however, had scared the two highwaymen, who slunk away. A boy, however, saw them go into a nearby saloon and told Goss where they were.

Goss found a short man with blood on his clothes in the back room of the saloon with five other men, and arrested him. The prisoner said he was Stephen Flynn of 129 West Ninety-sixth Street. Goss locked him up in the West 100th Street Station, and going back to the saloon found a tall young man wearing a paddock coat and arrested him, also. He said he was John P. Hoster of 710 Amsterdam Avenue. The broker's cuff buttons were not found on either of the men.

McLeod identified the prisoners as the men who had attacked him, and the boy who had told Goss of their flight also identified them.

The two prisoners were arraigned before Magistrate Moss in the West Side Court later in the day and held in $3,000 bail.

SLAYER HURRIES TO POLICE.

Announces He Has Killed Brother-In-Law as He Runs Into Station.

Just as Capt. Cooney of the East Sixty-seventh Street Station was turning out a platoon at 8 o'clock last night, a wiry, red-haired Hungarian rushed in and, laying a five-chambered revolver on the desk, two of the bullets of which had been discharged, shouted in Hungarian:

"I killed a man! I killed my brother-in-law!"

A man in the station house looking for a lost child acted as interpreter, and said that the self-confessed slayer was John P. Kneipe of 415 East Seventy-third Street, and that he had just come from 409 East Sixty-fourth Street, where he had shot and killed Stephen Versko, a carpenter.

Lieut. Manning and Patrolman Brown hurried to the scene of the shooting. On the second floor they found the body of Versko, which lay in the hall at the entrance to the Versko apartments. Inside were the children of the dead man, their mother, and her sister Susanna, the wife of Kneipe. They said the shooting followed a quarrel. Kneipe was locked up on a homicide charge.

BROADWAY STIRRED BY BROKER'S ARREST

Reserves Called Out to Quell Excitement When Whitney Is Taken for a "Get-Rich" Swindle.

MANY COMPLAIN OF HIM

Peter Whitney, who said he was a broker, was sent to a cell in Police Headquarters yesterday afternoon, charged with grand larceny and violation of Section 1,617 of the postal laws. He declined to make any statement in his own behalf, even when the detectives asserted that he had operated a "get-rich-quick" swindle.

Whitney said he was 44 years old and that he lived at 17 West Twenty-seventh Street and had offices in 100 Broadway. His arrest at the latter address nearly occasioned a riot in the big office building and in Broadway. Business men who had known Whitney for some time as a business neighbor crowded around the entrance to his office when it became known throughout the building that detectives were arresting the broker, and crowds gathered in the lower corridors and in Broadway.

The reserves from the John Street and Church Street Police Stations came in patrol wagons, and the mounted Traffic Squad men helped to drive the crowds away from the building. Then McConville and Nelson took their prisoner to Headquarters, while other policemen packed the books and papers found in Whitney's office into one of the patrol wagons and followed with them.

At Headquarters Whitney learned that Reno R. Billington, a lawyer of 44 Broadway, represented K. C. Atwood, a wealthy merchant of 65 Monmouth Street, Springfield, Mass., who charges that Whitney swindled him. McConville and Nelson had the names of many more who have complained against the alleged broker.

Only recently a letter was received at Headquarters from C. W. F. Ruhl of 6 Rue de Grasse, Cannes, France, saying that the writer had seen his name in the story of the arrest of a get-rich-quick swindler contained in a paper from this country and advising the police that if they desired to stop such swindles it would be well to look up Mr. Whitney. Mr. Ruhl asserted in his letter that he had corresponded with Whitney, and in July of last year had sent the broker a check for $62 for shares in the Cobalt Developing Company, the Cobalt Bullion Mining Company, and the Cobalt American Developing Company, Limited. He said he had received his check bearing Whitney's indorsement after it had passed through his bank, but he asserted that he had never heard again from the broker nor had he ever received any stock.

Joseph McMurray of the contracting firm of McMurray & Co. of 2415 Ridge Avenue, Philadelphia, also wrote recently complaining that he had paid Whitney $1,000 for mining shares which he never received.

Mr. Billington visited Headquarters yesterday morning to complain that he had been unable to reach Whitney to serve him with papers in a civil suit to recover the money sent by Mr. Atwood, and to ask that Whitney be prosecuted criminally. The lawyer told the detectives that Mr. Atwood, his client, had corresponded with Whitney, and finally, on March 26 of last year, had sent him $100 in cash and a certificate for 1,000 shares of Bay State Gas Company stock, worth then about $800, with instructions to sell the stock and buy 500 shares of Cobalt Bullion stock for him.

According to the lawyer, Mr. Atwood only retained him after his own efforts to effect a settlement with the broker had failed. The complaint of the lawyer, coupled with those received by mail, determined the detectives to make the raid. They waited for three hours, until the broker acknowledged his identity by accepting a letter from a postman, and then McConville and Nelson broke into his office.

Besides the broker they found an old man, who said he was John M. Hall of the Broadway Central Hotel, and two boys, Joseph Hirsch of 225 West 114th Street and Joseph Roskam of 150 Kosciusko Street, Brooklyn. They allowed these three to go after taking their names.

According to McConville and Nelson, the papers and correspondence found in Whitney's office connect him with many big swindles of a few years ago. One letter was from Mrs. P. R. Archanbault of 124 North Sixtieth Street, Philadelphia, according to the detectives, and asked Whitney when the widows and orphans, who had invested their all in the Black Diamond Coal Mine, a famous swindle, according to the detectives, of about five years ago, might expect to receive returns from their investment. Other letters showed that Whitney had done business with George Poole of Thompsonville, Conn., to whom he sold 200 shares of Cobalt Bullion stock, according to the detectives, and also with Henry Tichnan of Easton, Penn., who, the correspondence showed, had bought 100 shares of the Ohio Oil Company in 1901. According to the detectives there is no such company.

The stock book of the Greater American Mining Company, which was found, contained an entry which puzzled the police. It showed that A. C. Allen of 300 Mulberry Street had paid $640 for 1,600 shares of stock in the company. No. 300 Mulberry Street is Police Headquarters. It was suggested that A. C. Allen may have been a contemporary of Devery at a time when many policemen were investing sums in mining stocks. If so he was too proud to "squeal," said the detectives last night.

Post Office Inspector Boyle provided another complainant against Whitney in a Dr. Swazey of 1 High Street, Worcester, Mass., who, according to the Inspector, wrote him that he had bought shares in the "Georgetown Mine of California" from Whitney, and being a Mason had learned from a member of that order to whom he wrote that Georgetown, Cal., was an orange grove, and that there was no mine of any kind there.

Papers found in his pockets when he was searched showed, according to the detectives, that Whitney served for nine days last month as a Supreme Court juror. A summons was also found, according to the detectives, showing that Whitney and a John Cornell were defendants in a civil suit to recover $150 brought by Daniel H. Mapes. According to the police, Mapes cashed a note made out by Whitney to Cornell and indorsed by the latter. The note was dated Dec. 20 last, and was for sixty days.

Whitney recently moved from offices on the fourteenth floor of 100 Broadway to Rooms 6 and 7 on the thirteenth floor. According to the detectives, his only comment as he went to a cell was:

"Well, six and seven make thirteen, and they were both on the thirteenth floor. I guess thirteen really is unlucky."

Pastor to Test the Faith Cure.

The Rev. Herbert M. Hopkins, pastor of the Episcopal Church of the Holy Nativity in Bedford Park, the Bronx, announced last night that a series of Faith Cure Conferences would be held in the church on the Fridays in Lent, beginning next Friday, and lasting until April 17. The Church of the Holy Nativity is the first church in Manhattan or the Bronx to take up the Emmanuel movement originated by Dr. Elwood Worcester of Boston. Dr. Robert MacDonald of the Washington Avenue Baptist Church, Brooklyn, has already completed a series of sermons on the subject, however.

ganization to carry on the liquidation by these Trustees must be paid.

"A total expense to the stockholders and creditors of the bank would be not less than $500,000. The whole scheme in my judgment is illegal, and the Oriental Bank, which is insolvent, has absolutely no right to treat with its assets in the manner proposed by the agreement with the Metropolitan Trust Company."

Attorney Menken for the bank, when told last night of the statement issued by Mr. Jackson, said in part:

"I cannot believe Mr. Jackson would give out such a statement attacking the plan which has been proposed by the parties in the task of liquidating the bank's debts. In the first place, Mr. Jackson, as I am told, pays particular attention in the statement made public by him last night to my inserting in the copy of the agreement which I submitted to him on Monday evening the word 'immediately.' The Attorney General insinuates there was no provision in the agreement between the bank and the Metropolitan Trust Company providing for the 'immediate' payment of depositors. As a matter of fact, we have been endeavoring for more than a week past to meet Mr. Jackson and submit to him the tentative agreement between the bank and the Metropolitan Trust Company. We were unable to meet Mr. Jackson, despite our earnest efforts, until Monday night, when Mr. Beekman and myself submitted to him a copy of the agreement.

"The fact remains that I did in his presence Monday night insert the word 'immediate,' in order to demonstrate to him the fact that an immediate payment of the depositors was provided for in the plan which had been prepared. I cannot see any difference between the word 'immediate' and the word 'forthwith.' President Ives of the Trust Company in his affidavit to the court a few days ago said the Trust Company was prepared to pay off depositors of the bank 'forthwith.' To me, it was very plain that the Trust Company was ready to immediately pay off all the bank's depositors, and in full.

"In view of Mr. Jackson's statement I would like to say that as late as this afternoon President Brayton Ives of the Metropolitan Trust Company assured us they had $4,000,000 set aside for the purpose of paying the bank's depositors should Mr. Jackson permit the formulated plan to go into effect. This amount would be more than enough to pay off all the depositors of the Oriental Bank.

"It is also set forth in Mr. Jackson's statement that it is quite likely two years will be needed to liquidate the bank. This task will be accomplished, providing the Attorney General will approve the plan, within six months, and the actual cost, all told, will be comparatively small, and nowhere near the estimate made by the Attorney General. I am of the opinion that when Mr. Jackson fully considers the plan proposed he will readily consent to the adoption of the plan."

There was a meeting of the Depositors' Committee of the Oriental Bank yesterday afternoon at the office of M. J. Drummond, 182 Broadway. The committee selected David McClure and Samuel Untermyer as counsel, and adjourned with a view to having the individual members get signatures to the petition asking Justice O'Gorman to vacate the receivership. It is planned to have as many as possible of Oriental Bank depositors in court when the matter comes up.

CITY RAILWAY SPENT LITTLE ON EQUIPMENT

Root Says It Wouldn't Surprise Him to Hear Less Than $50,000 Was Paid Out in Five Years.

$820,281 WAS CHARGED UP

Counsel for the Attorney General Applies Cravath's Own Definition of Insolvency to the City Railway.

The State brought out new facts yesterday in the suit which Attorney General Jackson brought to forfeit the charter of the New York City Railway on the ground that the corporation was insolvent for more than a year. Trial of the action was begun before Justice Vernon M. Davis in the Supreme Court on Monday, and officials of the company admitted that $4,500,000 discount on $15,000,000 of notes, carried as an asset since 1902, must, together with certain other items, be stricken from the company's asset column for the purpose of setting forth its real condition.

Yesterday Herbert R. Limburg, who is conducting the case as special counsel for the Attorney General, spent the morning in trying to find out from General Manager Oren Root and from Treasurer Charles E. Warren something about the $820,281 item in the company's report for June 30, 1906, representing equipment and supplies on hand. Mr. Root and Mr. Warren both supplied general information about the items, and the day's presentation of testimony was about to close until Mr. Limburg's accountant looked up the checks showing what part of the equipment and supply item had been bought in the year in question.

Mr. Cravath Defines Insolvency.

Then Mr. Cravath said that he would like to take a few minutes to explain to the court the company's position on the question of solvency. He said that he had waited before doing so until the case of the State should have developed sufficiently to allow an enlightening discussion of the issue to be made. It was the company's position, Mr. Cravath declared, that the test of its solvency, under Section 1,785 of the Code—the section governing the present action—was not whether its liabilities were in excess of its assets, but whether it met its current obligations promptly. It was a matter of operative solvency, according to Mr. Cravath, instead of balance-sheet solvency.

Mr. Cravath pointed out that most of the decisions under Section 1,785 related to actions brought by the Attorney General to wind up banking corporations, for which special provision is made in a subdivision of the section distinct from the subdivision applying to ordinary business corporations. He feared, he said, that Mr. Limburg had been led astray by these decisions into an erroneous conception of solvency. Insolvency, Mr. Cravath declared in conclusion, must mean in the case of a business corporation only the inability to meet its pressing maturing obligations in the ordinary course of business. Any other interpretation, he added, would put many prosperous corporations in a state of technical insolvency, and be entirely inconsistent with the common sense of the situation.

When Mr. Cravath was done Mr. Limburg rose to ansker with a printed legal paper in his hand.

"It is not necessary to reply at length to Mr. Cravath at this time," he said. "I wish merely to read a definition of insolvency contained in the brief which Mr. Cravath and Mr. Untermyer joined in presenting in replying to the arguments of the Attorney General in this case. It says:

"'Insolvency means a lack of sufficient property to pay debts. The definition of the bankruptcy act is that a person shall be declared insolvent where the aggregate of his property, exclusive of that fraudulently transferred, is insufficient at a fair valuation to pay his debts. Such is the general definition of the term.'

"It isn't necessary for me to discuss this at length. A corporation is insolvent if it has, say, $100,000 of assets and owes $1,000,000, whether or not it may be able to meet its current expenses by raising money on promissory notes that it cannot pay at maturity."

On Monday Mr. Limburg had undertaken to find out what part of the $820,281 equipment reported as of June 30, 1906, was purchased in that year. Mr. Warren had not been able to enlighten him, and Mr. Limburg called for the checks showing these purchases.

As a result boys from the offices of the New York City Railway came into court at the opening of the session yesterday carrying bundles two feet square, which contained all the cancelled checks of every kind covering the period in question. Mr. Limburg asked Mr. Warren for the checks relating to equipment purchases, and the Treasurer of the City Railway pointed to the bundles and invited Mr. Limburg to help himself. When the attorney for the State said he supposed the company would pick out the checks called for and bring them up, Mr. Cravath said that such a process would take two weeks. This caused some merriment among the railway officials sitting around him, which included H. H. Vreeland, Auditor Brown, Auditor Ludlam, Treasurer Sayre of the Metropolitan Securities Company, and others. Mr. Cravath made an argument to convince the court and Mr. Limburg that the latter was proceeding along the wrong lines to find out what he wanted about the value of the equipment which the company had on hand on June 30, 1906.

Questions Company's Reports.

"I propose to show," Mr. Limburg rejoined, "that the company's reports carried constantly increasing items representing material and supplies on hand, whereas they didn't have them on hand at all. Between Dec. 31, 1905, and March 31, 1906, the reports show an apparent increase of over $500,000 in these supplies, and I propose to narrow down the time of the theoretical increases to a single quarter and trace the thing down by showing just what they bought."

Mr. Cravath still fought against the intimation that the increase between one quarter's report and another was net and not gross, so that the purchases would not tell the whole story. He suggested that Mr. Limburg go to the books of the company.

"I don't intend to take your false ledger accounts," Mr. Limburg retorted.

"I protest! I protest!" shouted Mr. Cravath. "I ask that that statement be stricken out of the record."

The court so ordered, and then Mr. Limburg went on:

"Mr. Cravath shows utter ignorance of the facts. He says something is a statement of fact, which is nothing of the sort."

"I ask that that be expunged also," interrupted the traction attorney, and Mr. Limburg withdrew his remark:

"I would suggest," said Mr. Cravath, "that your accountant and our accountant get together in this matter and see if they cannot agree."

"My accountant," rejoined Mr. Limburg, "says that he can go through those checks this afternoon and have the ones we want by to-morrow morning, which we will be very glad to have done."

With General Manager Oren Root as his witness Mr. Limburg sought light on the equipment and supplies account to no very good purpose yesterday, for Mr. Root's information was of a general rather than of a specific character. Mr. Limburg read to the witness the affidavit which the latter had made certifying to the correctness of the statements in the 1906 report, and Mr. Root explained that, while he had the document before him for a couple of days, like Mr. Warren and Mr. Hasbrouck, he depended upon Mr. Brown, the auditor, for the accuracy of the information to which he affixed his signature under oath. Mr. Root explained that supplies were bought by the New York City Railway in large quantities and stored in various yards.

"Now," Mr. Limburg said, "if any considerable amount had been used in the year, it would appear under construction and equipment account in the New York City Railway, would it not?"

"That would be a fair inference," Mr. Root replied.

"Will you look at this report and tell us what was added to construction and equipment for the year ending June 30, 1906?" demanded Mr. Limburg.

"Now, Mr. Limburg," put in Mr. Cravath, "I'd suggest—"

"One moment, Mr. Cravath," returned the State's counsel, "your time will come when I put you on the witness stand. Just now I'm examining Mr. Root."

"I wanted to tell you something that I thought might help you," Mr. Cravath explained.

"At recess I shall be glad to receive any help that you may care to give, but I'm doing very nicely as I am just now," Mr. Limburg came back. Mr. Root meantime had been reading the report and finally replied that the City Railway had put $2,658 into construction and equipment in 1906.

"Would it surprise you to know that in the five years from 1902 to 1907 the New York City Railway put less than $50,000 into construction and equipment?" asked Mr. Limburg.

"I don't know that it would," Mr. Root replied.

"Don't you know as General Manager that substantially all the material on hand June 30, 1907, had never been used from the time of acquisition?"

"No, I don't know that."

"Isn't a good deal of it three years old?"

"I wouldn't say that," Mr. Root declared.

Repairs Entered as Assets.

Mr. Limburg got the witness to admit that an item of renewal of special work amounting to $95,381, representing directly an expenditure for the renewal of tracks that had worn out on curves, was put into the company's statement as an asset, as well as an item of $58,833 for "renewal of horses" and several other large amounts. Mr. Root said that these were proper bookkeeping charges, although they could not be included in a list of assets made up for the purpose of testing solvency.

Under cross-examination by Mr. Cravath, Mr. Root said that the reason the purchase of supplies by the New York City Railway so far exceeded its use of such supplies was that the supplies were distributed over the entire Metropolitan system and went into the New York City Railway's statement through various accounts which it would take the auditor to explain. Mr. Root also told Mr. Cravath that the company had paid its bills promptly until soon before the Federal receivership.

"What do you know about the payment of the bills?" Mr. Limburg demanded when Mr. Cravath was through.

"I know that they were paid," Mr. Root repeated.

"You know that the money to pay them was raised on demand notes?" Mr. Limburg went on.

"In part," said Mr. Root.

"What had the company to meet these notes?"

"Its receipts from operation."

"The company always had a loss, didn't it?"

"Not always."

"Can you pick out for me any quarter in which the company operated to a profit from its formation, in 1902, down to the present time?" Mr. Limburg demanded finally. Mr. Root could not do so off hand and Mr. Limburg suggested that he look the matter up and report if he had found any such this morning, to which time the trial adjourned.

BATHS FOR CAR PASSENGERS.

Receiver Whitridge Suggests Them—"Impecunious Regard" for Speed.

The habits of the people who ride in street cars are responsible for the condition of the cars, according to Receiver Whitridge of the Dry Dock, East Broadway & Battery Railroad Company. Some time ago the Board of Aldermen asked the Public Service Commission to put pressure on the traction companies to obtain, if possible, better conditions on the east side cars. To the commission's request for information Mr. Whitridge yesterday sent a letter in which he said he had directed the manager of the line to give the matter of the condition of the cars immediate attention and hoped that the conditions complained of will be remedied forthwith. The letter continued:

I trust, however, that the honorable Board of Aldermen will consider that the "unclean, unhealthy, and menacing" conditions of which they complain are largely caused by the personal habits, sanitary condition, and manners of the people who are carried in the cars, and I should be happy to co-operate with them in any device which they may suggest, including free baths on our routes, for remedying these conditions.

I am even prepared to admit that the operation of the cars may be "a travesty on the transportation accommodations of the great City of New York," although it is possible that the slowness complained of is because of our inability to purchase faster horses and because also of the fact that the streets are not kept free for the sole use of these cars.

I can quite understand also why the honorable Board of Aldermen consider that these things display "an indecent regard for the rights of the people," but it would be, however, more accurate to say—an impecunious regard.

The receiver also says he hopes to improve conditions when he can get the money.

NEW SUBWAY BILL.

Travis Proposes to Allow Construction by Private Capital.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, March 3.—Senator Travis today introduced a new Subway bill. It provides for the sale of privileges and franchises to construct new lines in New York City by private capital in case the Public Service Commission decides that the interests of the city require such construction. An indeterminate franchise is provided for with both a maximum and a minimum term. Under the provisions of the bill a private company would have the right to operate a Subway for not less than twenty-five years nor more than fifty years.

WANT 10 PER CENT. RESERVE.

Brooklyn Trust Companies Ask for the Same Provision as Those Up State.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, N. Y., March 3.—Trust companies of Brooklyn to-day asked the Committees on Banks to place them under the same reserve provision as is made for the up-State trust companies. Under the bill now in committee the Brooklyn trust companies are placed on the same footing as the institutions or Manhattan, the reserve being 15 per cent. The reserve for trust companies in other parts of the State is 10 per cent.

Strong opposition is also expected to the provision that requires the reserve to be in cash. This, it is declared, would throw out from $80,000,000 to $40,000,000 of New York City bonds now held by banks and trust companies.

GANS MAKES REPLY TO KING CHARGES

In Letter to Hughes Jerome's Campaign Manager Says They Are "Willfully Mendacious."

HE EXPLAINS CONTRIBUTIONS

Would Have Kicked Any Contributor Out Had He Ever Sought an Official Favor from Jerome.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, March 3.—Gov. Hughes today authorized the publication of a letter he has received from ex-Assistant District Attorney Howard S. Gans, in which the writer, who was custodian of Mr. Jerome's campaign fund, characterizes as "libelous and willfully mendacious" certain allegations regarding the sources from which the campaign fund was supplied, made by William F. King in the charges against the District Attorney which he filed with the Governor a few days ago.

Mr. Gans meets a statement made by Mr. King to the effect that "legitimate campaign contributions" to the amount of $7,857.21 were received by the Merchants' Association committee with which Mr. King was associated, while Mr. Gans received "contributions" in the amount of $50,000 and upward, by saying that Mr. King was well aware there was no distinction between the sources and uses of the two funds. Mr. King, he says, was fully conversant with all of importance in connection with the collection of the funds, and at no time entered a protest.

The letter then goes on to say:

"The statement that I received contributions from many 'men connected with large corporations seeking favors from the District Attorney's office' is unqualifiedly false.

"So far as I know, no contributor, either to Mr. King's fund or to mine, whether connected with a corporation or otherwise, ever sought any favors of the District Attorney's office, and my years spent in that office under Mr. Jerome enable me to say with assurance that any one who had come there at any time seeking an official 'favor,' either from the District Attorney or any of his staff, would have departed speedily, and with a wholesome recognition that to a public officer in the performance of a public function a request for a 'favor' was an intolerable insult, and that any one who had referred to a campaign subscription as a consideration which should in any way affect official action would have been lucky to have reached the door without acceleration from the toe of a boot.

"Moreover, I know that until the trial of the Xavier case within the past few months, which necessitated the disclosure of the names of contributors, Mr. Jerome was in ignorance of all but one or two of the sources of contributions.

"Mr. Untermyer's contribution, which Mr. King now charges 'to have been entirely improper' and 'of a character, if known, to reflect unfavorably upon the District Attorney,' was known to Mr. King at or about the time of its receipt, and was discussed openly in his presence, as in the presence of others, during the campaign, and there was at no time any suggestion from Mr. King or from any one else that there was any reason why Mr. Untermyer's generosity should not be availed of.

"The $2,500 received by me from 'a prominent banker' was given to me by that banker, who had long been one of Mr. Jerome's friends, upon the condition that I should at no time disclose to Mr. Jerome that he was a contributor to the fund, and until the trial of the case to which I have referred above, when I was about to be called upon to disclose under oath the sources of the campaign fund, Mr. Jerome was kept in ignorance of the fact that such a contribution had been made.

CHOATE BACKS JEROME.

Writes Offering Aid Against King Charges—Jerome Defense Half Done.

This letter, in reference to the charges filed against him with Gov. Hughes by William F. King, Chairman of the stockholders of the Metropolitan Street Railway Company, was received yesterday by District Attorney Jerome:

60 Wall Street,
March 3, 1908.

My Dear Jerome: I hope you don't feel disturbed by these charges of Mr. King. They seem to me to be preposterous.

If I can be of any service to you in regard to them you have but to command me.

Yours very truly,
JOSEPH H. CHOATE.

William Travers Jerome, Esq.

Mr. Jerome has received many other letters since the charges were brought. He is still busy with his answer, which, he says, will be surely finished by March 9, when the Governor wishes to receive it. The answer is now 500 printed pages long and about half done.

TO PROSECUTE REARDON.

Special Attorney Asked for to Handle Cases of Jerome Detectives.

ALBANY, N. Y., March 3.—John T. McGovern of New York, as counsel, made application to Gov. Hughes to-day for the designation of a special assistant Attorney General to prosecute the complaints of Barney Marks, Ruth Kirsch, Harry L. Mitchell, and others against Edward J. Reardon and Joseph A. Wasserman, attached to the office of District Attorney Jerome of New York, whom they charge with oppression.

District Attorney Jerome said last night in reference to the application of John T. McGovern:

"I have had no notification of this request. I know nothing of it except what I see in the evening papers, and for this reason I have no comments to make."

Teachers' Equal Salary Bill in Senate.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, N. Y., March 3.—The Senate Cities Committee to-morrow will bring in a teachers' equal salary bill, applying to New York City. The bill will follow the lines of the bill introduced last year at the request of the women teachers as a committee measure and vetoed by the Governor after it had passed both houses and been vetoed by Mayor McClellan on behalf of the city. A similar bill has been introduced in the Assembly by Mr. Conklin of New York.

BUSINESS MEN OPTIMISTIC.

Prosperity Convention in Baltimore Tells the People Not to Fear.

Special to The New York Times.

BALTIMORE, March 3.—Resolutions were enthusiastically adopted by the "prosperity" convention of business men to-night expressing unbounded confidence in the financial, commercial, industrial, and agricultural stability of the Nation, and in the integrity of its general business conditions. They call upon the people to abandon their chimerical ideas of fear, distrust, and unrest, which have no sound foundation, either in theory or in fact, so that true confidence, the touchstone of prosperity, may exist in all lines of business.

Business men from New York and Pennsylvania as well as every Southern State were present, sharing in the spirit of optimism that pervaded the assemblage.

This letter from President Roosevelt was read:

"Present to the convention my very hearty greetings, and say that I hope that this convention will be successful in every way. Such gatherings as these represent the men to whose action we must especially look for the achievement of the lasting prosperity of the country on that kind of basis which alone makes permanent prosperity possible."

80,000 FEET OF NEW HOSE.

Commissioner Bonner Awards Contracts to Supply the Fire Department.

Fire Commissioner Bonner awarded contracts yesterday for 80,000 feet of new rubber fire hose. No award was made in the matter of 20,000 feet of three-inch fiveply rubber hose for regular service, as only two bids were received, each higher than the Commissioner desired to pay. He will ask for new bids.

The Diamond Rubber Company got the award for 10,000 feet of two-and-a-half-inch four-ply hose for regular service in Brooklyn at a bid of $11,350. The bid of the B. F. Goodrich Company was only $11,000, but did not conform to the terms and was thrown out.

The Republic Rubber Company got the contract for 10,000 feet of three-inch six-ply high-pressure hose for Brooklyn with a bid of $16,400. The same company got the inch four-ply hose for service in this borough at $31,200. The Diamond Rubber Company got the contract for 30,000 feet of three-inch six-ply hose for high-pressure service in this borough at $52,050.

THE QUEEN OF TABLE WATERS.

PEER HYPNOTIZED BY HIS SECRETARY

Marquis Townshend Says A. G. Robbins Learned to Control Him on American Trip.

GAVE UP HIS HEIRLOOMS

Diminutive Peer Weeps When He Refers to His Wife—Had Sought an American Fortune.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, March 3.—Assertions that he had been influenced by hypnotism to surrender the custody of heirlooms of the Townshend family were made by the Marquis Townshend in the Chancery Court to-day. He was a witness most of the day in a suit to remove A. G. Robbins, formerly a clergyman, from trusteeship of the heirlooms. It was suggested that Robbins had sold some of the heirlooms for his own benefit, pocketing the proceeds.

The two men had figured in the newspapers before. In a suit tried two years ago a strange state of facts was brought out. Robbins was the secretary of the Marquis for about twelve years, and dominated him completely. The Marquis is an undersized man with a big head, lustreless eyes, and weak mouth. The two went to America in 1902, and it was made known that an American girl with money could share one of the great titles of England. The venture was unsuccessful, and they returned.

Later the Marquis married Miss Gladys Sutherst, the 19-year-old daughter of a lawyer-promoter. A young Government clerk said he had arranged the marriage on the basis of a settlement of $135,000.

The Marquis after his marriage left his bride and returned to Robbins. The Sutherst family had him declared incompetent to manage his affairs and had the Marchioness appointed his guardian. His family attempted to have this order revoked, but the scandal made such a sensation that the proceedings were dropped. The suit to compel Robbins to surrender the heirlooms followed.

When the Marquis testified to-day only the head and shoulders of the diminutive Peer appeared above the rail of the witness box, although he was standing up in it. He gave his evidence in a sharp, childish treble.

He furnished a sensation by saying that Robbins's influence over him was due to hypnotic suggestion. He declared that when Robbins and he went to America the latter studied mesmerism under a Persian in Chicago and a certain Tyndale in New York. Then Robbins had experimented on him.

Asked what Robbins had done, the Marquis said that Robbins bade him to stand still and forget everything, leaving himself entirely in the man's hands.

A doctor who examined the Marquis before the Townshend commission decided that he was incapable of managing his affairs, testified that he found the Marquis to be undeveloped in intellect and under a dominating influence. The Peer had renounced his initiative of thought and action to Robbins, and once threatened to commit suicide.

The Marchioness Townshend was in court during the proceedings. Once when the Marquis was asked why he had left her out of his will, he said that it was because he unfortunately believed slanders against her. Thereupon the Marquis began to weep.

SMALLPOX SCARES ROME.

Official Endeavors to Suppress News Have Opposite Effect to That Desired.

ROME, Sunday, March 1, via Paris, March 3.—The municipality of Rome has pursued a mistaken policy in endeavoring to suppress the news of an outbreak of smallpox in this city in the fear of frightening away the Spring tourist trade, which constitutes a large source of revenue to the capital.

The method pursued in prohibiting the sending of all telegrams referring to the outbreak has given rise to the spread of the wildest and most exaggerated reports.

There is now practically a panic in Rome. All the vaccine material in the city has been exhausted and a fresh supply has been ordered from Switzerland.

The Lazaretto of Santa Sabina, where the cases have been isolated, has been surrounded by a cordon of troops. This action has resulted in the shutting out of many tourists who are lodged in a nearby hotel and has caused much complaint. No Americans are in the hotel in question.

BIG ROTTERDAM LAUNCHED.

On the First Attempt the Liner Stuck on the Ways.

BELFAST, Ireland, March 3.—The steamer Rotterdam, the 24,170-ton Holland-American liner, was successfully launched here this morning.

An attempt was made Feb. 23 to launch the Rotterdam, but the liner refused to take the water owing to the tremendous pressure on the ways, which had not been properly greased.

HYPNOTIZED MAJOR'S SLAYER.

Captain von Goeben Told Alienist of His Love for Victim's Wife.

BERLIN, March 3.—Baron von Schrenck-Notzing, an expert alienist, has made a report on the mental condition of Capt. von Goeben, who committed suicide in his cell yesterday by opening an artery in his neck. He was awaiting trial by court-martial for the killing, Dec. 25, of Major von Schoenbeck.

The alienist says Von Goeben was so sensitive to hypnotic suggestion that he acted through suggestion, his normal mental powers being partially in suspense. Von Goeben told him in a very simple way of the exalted feeling he had for Mrs. von Schoenbeck, saying she had related to him her sufferings at the hands of her husband. She would not permit Von Goeben to challenge her husband to a duel.

Finally, on Christmas Day, Von Goeben, who was still on friendly terms with the Major, had dinner with the Major and his wife. He was with them from 2 o'clock in the afternoon until 9 in the evening. While the Major was in an adjoining room Mrs. von Schoenbeck led Von Goeben under the Christmas tree and asked him to make oath that he would bring matters to an end, as she could endure the torture no longer.

Von Goeben swore as the woman asked him to, and made up his mind to return, after leaving the house, and seek a duel with the Major. He wanted no witnesses. In order to give the Major a chance for his life he entered the house by a window in the dining room, which he had left unfastened, and made a noise. The Major came in with a pistol.

When he saw Von Goeben the Major exclaimed in astonishment. Then he caught sight of the revolver in Von Goeben's hand and raised his own weapon. Von Goeben shot first, and the Major fell with a bullet hole in his forehead. Shortly after the killing of the Major his wife was arrested as an accomplice. She has since been declared insane.

Von Goeben told the alienist that his love for Mrs. von Schoenbeck permitted him to master the pangs of conscience.

AGREEMENT ON THE CONGO.

King Leopold Recedes on Vital Points —Fund for Improvements.

BRUSSELS, March 3.—It is announced that King Leopold and the Belgian Government have come to a complete agreement on the question of the annexation of the Congo Independent State. The agreement was made possible by an important concession by the King, in consenting that the Parliament have control of the Congo budget. In addition, the King gives to Belgium the magnificent domain of Cape Ferrat in the South of France, reserving for himself the use of it, however, during his lifetime.

The Government on its part agrees to proose that the Chambers vote a special fund to carry out certain undertakings in the Congo and in Belgium, which will not exceed $12,000,000, and at the same time a special annual credit of $600,000 will be included in the Congo budgets for fifteen years, for the construction of hospitals and other institutions.

It is expected that the annexation treaty in its new form will be presented to the Chambers on Wednesday or Thursday next. It was stated late to-night that the Official Gazette would publish shortly a royal decree abolishing he crown domain in the Congo Free State.

GERMANS NEED STANDARD OIL.

Do Not Know How to Control the Industry Without It.

BERLIN, March 3.—The question of a Government petroleum monopoly is still under consideration by the Imperial Ministry of Finance.

The difficulty which confronts the Government is how to get along without the Standard Oil Company.

If the State monopoly is to be anything more than a selling agent for the Standard Company, arrangements must be economically possible for a continuous supply of American petroleum for mixing with the European product. No conclusion, however, need be reached before next Autumn, as Chancellor von Bülow and Secretary of the Treasury Sydow have postponed the introduction of fresh tax proposals until that time.

COAMO AT HER PIER.

Passengers Give Thanks as Steamer Floats Off the Sand Bar.

The Porto Rico liner Coamo, from San Juan, which stuck in the mud on Jones's Beach, Fire Island, on Monday, to the chagrin of many passengers, and whose predicament caused much uneasiness ashore, came up to her pier yesterday morning with a Bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church leading the doxology, "Praise God from Whom all blessings flow." The Coamo was apparently little worse for the experience.

Capt. Dalton, who in his twenty-eight years on the Atlantic has figured in but one accident—that of Monday—was on the bridge when the liner came up. Just before the vessel arrived off the pier he came down on deck and mingled with his passengers and joined with them in the singing of the doxology. The Right Rev. Luther B. Wilson, D. D., Bishop of the Methodist Church, whose home is in Chattanooga, led the singing. It was the second time that it had been sung on the way up, the first time being when the wreckers succeeded in pulling the Coamo into deep water on Monday night.

CELLA A SUICIDE, SAYS JURY.

Decides in Five Minutes That Importer Died by His Own Hand.

The inquest into the death of Geralomo Cella, the wealthy Italian importer of 528 West Broadway, who was found dying in his place of business on Feb. 23, resulted yesterday in a verdict that Cella had died of wounds self-inflicted and poison self-administered.

Dr. Murphy of St. Vincent's Hospital testified that Cella was conscious but speechless when he reached his side, and that when asked who had wounded him he pointed to his own breast and nodded his head. The policeman who was called in by Dominico Cella, the brother of the dead man, corroborated this evidence.

A restaurant keeper testified that several days before his death Cella had lifted a glass of wine in his restaurant and toasted death, saying that the month's end would not see him alive. There was evidence showing that Cella's unhappiness at home had fixed his mind on suicide.

The jury deliberated less than five minutes before finding the verdict. The case was thought at first to have been a murder.

Notes of Foreign Affairs.

LIMOGES, France, March 3.—The trial of Antoine Thomas came to an end to-day with the sentencing of Thomas to six years' imprisonment at hard labor. Thomas is the cooper of Clermont-Ferrand who committed the series of church robberies in France the revelation of which last Fall created a local sensation.

CARACAS, Venezuela, March 2.—Senor Restrepo, the confidential agent of the Government of Colombia, who has been in Caracas for some time past trying to bring about a settlement of the navigation and boundary disputes between his country and Venezuela, reports that he has been unable to come to an understanding and that a crisis in the negotiations is approaching.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 3.—M. Peters, the representative in St. Petersburg of transatlantic steamship lines, is at present endeavoring to secure the assent of the officials of the Russian lines running between Libau and New York to a passenger rate agreement. He has had already several conferences with officials of the Volunteer Fleet, but although the conditions offering to-day are better than formerly, the Russians are as yet unwilling to abandon their liberty of action.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 3.—The committee of the Duma which has had the matter under consideration has decided to recommend the exclusion of M. Kolublakin and M. Kosorotoff. M. Kolublakin is the Deputy from St. Petersburg whose surrender was demanded by the Government because of the charge that he made a treasonable speech at Samara in 1906, while the Minister of Justice proposed that M. Kosorotoff be excluded on account of a post-election speech at Ufa. The first-named Deputy is a Constitutional Democrat and the second is a Socialist.

SELLS TOWN FOR $2,000,000.

Countess Owned It, with Its 13,000 Inhabitants and Famous Fort.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 3.—The news of an interesting transfer of real estate is reported here from the Government of Volhynia. The entire town of Dubno, which counts some 13,000 inhabitants, has been sold by the owner, Countess Shuvalovo to Count Offendorf, an Austrian, for $2,000,000. The transfer includes the site of the Russian fortress at Dubno.

This town is one of several in Russian Poland that has been held under the ownership of a single individual since the old feudal days. It was founded in the tenth century, and was once owned by a King of Poland. The fortress has been the field of many engagements, and enjoys the distinction of never having been captured during either the Cossack or Tartar invasions.

THREAT TO MISS STRACHAN.

Leader of Equal Pay for Women Teachers Gets "Black Hand" Letters.

Miss Grace C. Strachan, the Assistant School Superintendent who is leading the fight of the women teachers for equal pay, showed yesterday to Acting Captain Kuhne of the Detective Bureau a letter, which read in part as follows:

We see you are trying to make taxes higher by going to Albany to get mor munney for wimmen teachers and not for men. You are nothing but a fool to go in with a man like McCarren to win pay like men. Beware! You are a marked woman, and will surely die if you don't stop equal-pay fights. Fire and bombs. Warning!

COMMITTEE BLACK HAND.

Miss Strachan exhibited other letters, all abusive and threatening in tone, which she had received.

Capt. Kuhne listened sympathetically to all Miss Strachan said. At its conclusion he advised her to go to the Post Office and ask the Federal authorities to run down the letter writer. Miss Strachan accepted the advice.

Have You Seen the Clothes Show?

It opened Monday and will be open daily until Saturday night. It is an exhibition of the correct fashions for men for Spring, 1908. Admission is free. Attend the show at any one of the four Brill stores most convenient for you.

Worsted Suits---Special at $13.50

Fifteen thousand yards of pure worsted woven by one of America's best mills were cancelled by the buyer for two reasons.

First, the fabric was an ounce and a fraction under weight ordered; second, delivery was two months later than promised.

Brill stores and one of the Brill directed shops secured this fabric at a reduced price.

The Brill directed shop tailored the suits during the dull season at minimum expense.

So you save $4.50 or $6.50 on every suit at $13.50, because under ordinary circumstances suits as well tailored and of as fine fabric would have to sell for $18 and $20.

The fabric is medium weight, suitable for wear the year around. The weaves are fancy brown serges, blue serges and black serges with chalk line stripes and overplaids, including some neat dark mixture worsteds on black and gray grounds. The suits are cut on three of the new correct Spring 1908 Brill models and are in every way $18 and $20 suits.

The sole reason they are sold at $13.50 is to convince those who buy them that Brill stores can and do give the best values in New York.

Suits Special at $12.50

High grade Spring weight suits of Cassemere, Cheviot and Velour tailored by the best wholesale tailors in America, including such makers as the Stein-Bloch Co. and L. Adler Bros. & Co. Suits of highest standard fabrics, tailoring and trimmings—former prices ranged up to $22.50. Special at $12.50.

"Cravenette" Raincoats.

These garments must be made from fabrics that are especially woven and especially adapted for Raincoats. "Cravenette" Raincoats must be tailored by organizations peculiarly expert in tailoring ¾-lined garments. Only raincoats tailored by such experts will hold the shape, fit and style under any and all conditions.

A perfect raincoat has many uses and is a man's most practical Spring coat for all occasions.

Here are special values in "Cravenette" Raincoats, made from especially woven raincoat fabrics—tailored by America's best and most expert raincoat tailoring organizations.

Every fabric waterproofed by the "Cravenette" process—the world's standard. Every garment, because of the right fabrics, the expert tailoring and high-grade trimmings, is warranted to hold the shape, fit and style until worn out and to shed water under all conditions.

"Cravenette" Raincoats that are $13.50, $15 and $16.50 values, $10.

Excellent worsteds in correct Grays and neat mixtures, all-wool Oxford Cheviots and Black Thibets.

"Cravenette" Raincoats that are $18 and $20 values, $12.50.

"'THE ANCIENT LAW,' by Miss Ellen Glasgow, is a wonderful novel, a strong, dignified, noble story, and lacks neither dramatic situations, thrilling complications, nor humor. One could cut philosophy from every page."—Buffalo Express.

Frederick Loeser & Co.

In every detail the Leading Retail Establishment of Brooklyn.

The Subway to Borough Hall Brings the Loeser Store Within 20 Minutes of Forty-Second Street.

The Choicest Stock of Spring Cottons

To be Found in the Greater City.

AGAIN AND AGAIN SINCE THE SPRING DRESS Cottons came out on show we have heard enthusiastic comments from those who have surveyed with more or less care the new Cottons to be seen throughout the city. Indeed, the new Subway has brought to Brooklyn many who until this season never visited the Loeser Store, and from these women especially the praise and enthusiasm have been unmeasured.

The stock is immense—the largest we have ever shown. The prices are fair, and in many instances astonishingly low. But it is the exquisite beauty of the new Cottons—the fact that they represent the very choicest patterns and weaves from foreign and American mills—that puts the Loeser showing in a class alone.

How impressive it is in variety may be gathered from this partial list. How charming it is in detail can only be realized by the personal inspection which every discriminating woman owes to herself.

Bargains in Seasonable Cottons.

NOT LESS IMPORTANT than the showing of lovely new Dress Cottons is the offering of most wanted fabrics at far below regular prices. It is the first time that such a chance has been possible at a season's very beginning.

HUGHES AGAIN URGES ANTI-GAMBLING BILLS

Tells Legislature He Had No Belief They Could Be Deflected from Duty.

ACTION MAY BE DELAYED

Legislators Wish to Avert Political Effect of Their Opposition to Reforms at Approaching Primaries.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, March 3.—Developments to-day indicated that final action on the Governor's anti-race track gambling measures may be postponed until after the Spring primaries in order to avert the political effect opposition to the proposed reforms by the legislators would have in their respective districts.

While the hearing scheduled for to-morrow, at which ex-Gov. Frank S. Black will appear in opposition to the bills on behalf of certain agricultural societies, was to have been the final one, Senator Davis, Chairman of the Judiciary Committee of the Senate, announced to-day that his committee would give a hearing on the bill providing for the repeal of the Percy-Gray act on March 11.

There will also be a hearing before the Codes Committee on the same date on the collateral amendment to the code, as announced by Senator Hill.

Gov. Hughes sent a message to the Assembly to-day in response to the resolution adopted asking for the name of the man who wrote the "Letter from a Gambler." He did not, however, forward the "Letter from a Gambler" called for in the resolution. The Governor said the letter had not been seen by him before it was made public, that he did not regard it as evidence that any of the members were susceptible to improper influences, and that the making public of the writer's name could serve no purpose except "to expose the author to the revenge of the fraternity whose traditions he had violated."

The resolution gave the Governor an opportunity which enabled him to appear again, and forcefully, as an advocate of the reforms he recommended in his previous message. In his message to-day he says:

"I give no credence to any report that the members of your honorable body would be deflected from their manifest duty by an attempt, if any such were made, on the part of those who have vast interests at stake in this matter, to corrupt their judgment. On the contrary, I have implicit confidence that the Legislature will carry into effect the constitutional mandate and will purge our State of this source of misery and vice, which exists only because the will of the people, flatly declared in the fundamental law, has not been carried into effect.

"Your honorable body knows that poolselling and bookmaking at race tracks are not now prevented by appropriate laws, as the Constitution requires, but flourish substantially unrestricted under what amounts to legal protection. This is a scandal of the first order and a disgrace to the State. The bills are not aimed at racing or at race tracks or at property. They are aimed at public gambling, prohibited by the Constitution, condemned by the moral sense of the people, irrespective of creed, and conceded to be the prolific source of poverty and crime."

The message was read in the Assembly and then laid on the table without debate. Speaker Wadsworth, who generally is regarded as having inspired the resolution, said:

"The Governor's reply to the Assembly resolution is gratifying to the members in that it makes plain that the Governor places no reliance upon the charges contained in the letter and declines to vouch for the responsibility of the author."

KNICKERBOCKER ASSENTS

Coming In in Encouraging Numbers—Time Limit Expires on Friday.

While the Parsons-Satterlee Committee have not yet totaled the assents to their plan which have come in during the last few days of grace granted by the court, which expires on Friday, Herbert L. Satterlee, counsel for the committee, said yesterday that the depositors had been coming in under the last call in encouraging numbers.

Mr. Satterlee said, in commenting on the item of $107,963 which the report of the receivers had included as "securities not entered on the company's books," that the depositors were just that amount to the good, since no account of this sum had been taken in making the preliminary estimates of the company's resources.

STIEGLITZ IS REINSTATED.

Camera Club Takes Him Back to Avoid Suit, but Prefers Charges.

In face of the proposed application of Alfred Stieglitz, recently expelled from the Camera Club, for a mandamus to compel the club to reinstate him, Hugo S. Mack, counsel for the club, yesterday notified G. Herbert Engelhard, attorney for Stieglitz, that the Board of Governors of the club had decided to pass a resolution of their own accord reinstating Stieglitz. At the same meeting regular charges would be preferred against him, and he would have two weeks under the by-laws of the club to answer them.

Stieglitz said that reinstatement was just what he was asking for, and that he was fully prepared to meet any charges which might be preferred.

Some Items from the Lost Columns.

As an evidence of the growing popularity of THE TIMES'S Lost and Found columns, rewards are offered this morning for the return of a woman's gold watch which was lost in Eighty-first Street, near Madison Avenue; an open-faced woman's gold watch with the monogram "M. F. G.," attached to which was a fob and gold link chain; a certificate of deposit for $15,000 on the United States Trust Company, a gold locket and chain, a woman's handbag, a pair of rimless eyeglasses in case, a pointed fox muff, a gold lorgnette, a bar brooch with pearl centre, a blue lynx neckpiece, and other articles of sufficient variety to stock a small department store.

CEDRINO AND BERGDOL.

Drivers Win Auto Races at Ormond—Mishaps to Cars.

ORMOND, Fla., March 3.—Slow times and a chapter of slight accidents marked the two automobile races run off on Ormond Beach here to-day, opening the sixth annual tournament under the auspices of the Automobile Club of America.

Cedrino, driving a 60 horse power Italian car, (Fiat;) Blakely, driving the 130 horse power American car, (B. L. M.,) and Shefts, with the American car (Hotchkiss) of 120 horse power, started. The car driven by Shefts was put out of the running before a quarter of a mile had been traversed by an accident, but half an hour later took up the chase again. The other American car went out at the ten-mile turn and Cedrino finished the race alone. His time was 1 hour 50 minutes and 20 seconds, much slower than the record, which is 1 hour 15 minutes and 40 seconds. Cedrino ran sixty miles on three tires and a rim, and from his credited time a total of approximately twenty-five minutes was spent in repairs.

The 150-mile event for stock chassis was won by Louis J. Bergdol, driving the 80 horse power German car, (Benz.) Bergdol covered the course in 2 hours 40 minutes and 33 seconds, finishing more than fifty miles in advance of his nearest competitor. The summary follows:

100-Mile, for Minneapolis Cup.—Won by Cedrino, 60 horse power Italian car, Fiat. Times at laps—25 miles, 26:39 4-5; 50 miles, 60:05; 75 miles, 85:05; finish, 110:20. Shefts and Blakely did not finish.

150-Mile Stock Chassis.—Won by Bergdoll, 80 horse power German car Benz. Times at laps—25 miles, 25:15; 50 miles, 61:02; 75 miles, 85:32; 100 miles, 107:31; 125 miles, 130:38; finish, 160:53.

James Laughlin, third, driving a 40 horse power Cleveland car, was stopped by the judges after completing 120 miles.

The first event programmed for to-morrow is the 128-mile invitation race for amateurs.

Borden's Team Wins Roller Polo.

Considerable interest in roller skating sports was evidenced last night at the Metropolitan Roller Rink, Broadway and Fifty-second Street, by the members of the Tuesday night Skating Club. An exciting roller polo contest, with numerous falls as the feature, was also decided. The first team, captained by Howard S. Borden, proved the victor by the score of 2 goals to 0. The summary:

880-Yard Team Race.—Won by H. S. Borden and Miss Ives; H. A. Patterson and Miss Mellard, second; D. W. Paige and Miss Burbank, third. Time—2:55.

Football Player Dies from Broken Back

PHILADELPHIA, March 3.—William Altemus, aged 21 years, of Cheltenham, a suburb, died in a hospital this afternoon from a broken back received last Thanksgiving Day while playing football. The game in which Altemus was injured was between Lawndale and Bristol, suburban teams. He played a back field position on the Lawndale team. A few minutes after the game began Altemus made a flying tackle, and in the mix-up was rendered unconscious. He was removed to the hospital, where he lingered until to-day.

AUTOISTS EAGER FOR ANNUAL TOUR

Date of Start and Convention Plans Announced by A. A. A. Directors.

VANDERBILT RACE PLANS

May Yet Be Held on Long Island—European Consul Appointed to Benefit Tourists Going Abroad.

Definite plans for the Glidden Cup tour were announced yesterday at the meeting of the Directors of the American Automobile Association, held in the A. A. A. offices, 437 Fifth Avenue. Chairman Frank B. Hower's report stating the arrangements that have been completed for the start of the tour from Buffalo on Wednesday, July 8, was unanimously adopted. The tour will be preceded by a two days' convention in Buffalo under the A. A. A. auspices, which will be chiefly devoted to the discussion of practical topics on good roads, legislation, and touring methods.

The Directors passed a resolution asking all of the clubs in the country that can make the necessary arrangements to conduct club tours to Buffalo, as the Touring Board is working to make the convention the greatest congress of American motorists ever held in this country. It will be the first convention of its kind held in America, and invitations will be extended to the highway commissioners of many States, and, in addition, to autoists and others of prominence, asking them to take part in the good roads and legislative discussions. The Buffalo Automobile Club has already appropriated a large sum of money toward defraying the expenses. Mr. Hower is now at work upon the rules for the tour, and these, with the detailed route, will be announced within a few weeks.

Another interesting fact toward showing the international activity of the Association was the appointment of Victor Breyer of Paris as the European Touring Consul of the A. A. A. Mr. Breyer was the manager of the Grand Prix race last year for the Automobile Club of France, and is well known as one of the most experienced automobilists abroad. He will be ready at all times to give A. A. A. members information regarding the best routes for a European tour, and will also make arrangements for the hiring of cars or chauffeurs for those preparing to make either a short or long distance tour on the Continent.

The prospects of the Vanderbilt Cup race were also discussed at some length, and it is believed that the race may yet be held on Long Island.

Jersey Autoists to Discuss Bills.

Special to The New York Times.

NEWARK, N. J., March 3.—Delegations from nearly every automobile organization in New Jersey will gather at the clubhouse of the New Jersey Automobile and Motor Club in this city Friday night to meet State Senator Joseph Frelinghuysen to discuss the proposed changes in the automobile law. The meeting is by arrangement with Mr. Frelinghuysen, who was asked by the motorists of the State to name a night when he could meet them to thrash out the good and bad points of the proposed legislation.

AUTO CYLINDER MERITS.

Colgate Hoyt Asks That Air and Water Cooled Principles Be Explained.

The relative merits of the fours versus the sixes were discussed in an interesting semi-technical lecture by C. B. Brokaw before the members of the Automobile Club of America last night in the clubrooms, West Fifty-fourth Street, near Broadway. Mr. Brokaw is the lecturer in the automobile school conducted by the West Side Y. M. C. A., and he told more about the technique of the four and six-cylinder machines than the majority of members probably ever knew before. He was clever enough not to take strong sides for or against either type. He did state that while at the present time he believes the four-cylinder car has slightly more points in its favor for all-around utility, it was a question whether within a year at least the six will not occupy the superior position, so rapid have been the improvements in the construction and the solution of the engine problems in what is popularly called the multicylinder car.

President Colgate Hoyt said that the members had all been deeply interested in the economical results of the 242-mile run through Long Island last week under the auspices of the Long Island Automobile Club, and had been agreeably surprised at the fact that one six-cylinder car used less lubricating oil for the entire run than any other machine, requiring less than a quart.

"The test was a great triumph for the air-cooled cars," added Mr. Hoyt, "as the two leaders were of the air-cooled type. I have always owned water-cooled cars and have two now, and I should like to hear at some future time something about the peculiar merits of both the air and water cooled machines."

Mr. Brokaw stated that he would be willing to talk to the members about these principles later in the season if they desired it. Among some of the members present were Dave Hennen Morris, John E. Roosevelt, Dr. Schuyler S. Wheeler, George T. Chamberlin, Dr. E. C. Chamberlin, F. G. Bourne, T. F. Wilcox, Orrel A. Parker, M. Roosevelt Schuyler, W. W. Sherman, W. W. Niles, Gen. George Moore Smith, Schuyler Schieffelin, A. A. Anderson, A. T. Seligman, W. B. Hurlbut, W. S. Gray, H. W. Palmer, W. W. Sherman, J. G. Ward, H. C. Gibson, A. P. Palmer, J. E. Woodbridge, and Frank Eveland.

Golf Carnival at Fox Hills.

Plans were advanced yesterday at the meeting of the Board of Governors of the Fox Hills Golf Club of Staten Island to hold a one-week golfing carnival in October. The plan which has met with general favor among the members is to apply for the metropolitan open championship, which will occupy two days. In addition a three-day open tournament for amateurs will be held and a one-day tournament for the women golfers in the metropolitan district. The governors were practically in favor of the carnival week, and the plans will be definitely discussed at an early meeting of the new officers who were elected yesterday at th meeting which was held at the office of A. J. Stone, 71 Broadway. They are: President—Joseph J. O'Donohue; Vice President—G. W. Lembeck; Secretary—George E. Fawcett; Treasurer—Samuel M. Dix. Executive Committee—E. G. Potter, Chairman; William Boyd and Dr. A. H. Thomas. The Chairman of the various committees were appointed as follows: Tournament—A. H. Pogson; Greens—Dr. A. H. Thomas; Admissions—Col. H. O'Donohue; House—William Boyd; Sports—G. W. Lembeck; Captain—C. F. Bottome; Lieutenant, a new office—W. G. Hoople.

Football Board to Make 1908 Plans.

PHILADELPHIA, March 3.—The central board of officials of the American Intercollegiate Football Rules Committee will call in a few days a meeting of all the managers of college football elevens in the East and South, to be held in this city toward the end of the month. Interpretation of rules and selection of a list of football officials will be among the matters taken up.

NEW YORK AGAINST QUAKERS.

Sedley, Walther, and Thomassen Placed on Local Team for Meet To-night.

While the withdrawal of Martin Sheridan in the shot-put and hop, step, and jump, of Harry L. Hillman in the 440-yard race, of H. F. Porter in the high jump, and of Joseph Bromilow in the half-mile run may weaken the team of the Metropolitan Association a little in its dual meet with the Middle Atlantic Association in the First Regiment Armory at Philadelphia to-night, New York experts are as confident as ever that the local representatives will carry off the honors of the meet. No one has been substituted for Sheridan as yet, but New York will be ably represented by Hart of the Princeton Preparatory School and Meyer of the Irish-American in the shot-put and by Platt, Adams, and O'Connell of the New York Athletic Club in the hop, step, and jump.

The team and a big delegation of "rooters" will leave by special train over the Pennsylvania Railroad at 5 o'clock this afternoon, returning immediately after the games are over.

If Stephenson could ride on the 20th Century Limited what would he think?

In 1831 the De Witt Clinton pulled its first train of cars 17 miles from Albany to Schenectady, on the Mohawk and Hudson Railroad, now a part of the New York Central Lines.

Each evening in 1908 the 20th Century Limited glides over the same 17 miles of road on its one-night run from New York to Chicago, leaving Grand Central Sation at 3 P.M., arriving Chicago 8.30 next morning.

Passengers dine and sleep on the train; barbers, porters, waiters and maids attend to every want. A score of other passenger trains no less richly outfitted and hundreds of freight trains pass dally at high, but usual, rates of speed.

Such reflections not only emphasize the comfort of modern railroad travel, but should encourage in the minds of the American Public fair judgment on the achievements of the railroad.

This is, by far, the largest circulation ever achieved by any weekly magazine in this country.

We have been for some months advertising our minimum figures of circulation of 750,000 copies weekly, but for months past it has been steadily gaining.

It argues for the soundness of popular taste that so large a public is attracted by such a magazine.

For one thing, we have not been unduly prejudiced in favor of old things—"classic," they are sometimes called. We believe in the worthwhileness of life to-day.

And if you will read THE POST, you will be impressed with our success in translating "the glory that was Greece" and "the grandeur that was Rome" into the enthusiasm which is Chicago.

FOURTEEN PAGES.

A QUIET GAME.

It will be a source of much comfort to faithful protectionists to learn from their trusty organ The Tribune that the tariff is to be revised by the Republican Party "without any blasts of trumpets or beating of drums." It is now eleven years since the tariff was devised under the guidance of the high priest of protection, Mr. DINGLEY. Since that time it is well known that its beneficiaries have gone in dread lest at any session the Republican majority might noisily give way to a sudden impulse to change the sacred schedules, or might set up such an uproar about it as to scare the recipients of tariff favors out of their wits.

They may possess their souls in peace. The Tribune announces that whatever is done is to be done as quietly as a mouse eats his way into a soft cheese. The Finance Committee of the Senate and the Ways and Means Committee of the House, with such experts as they may ask for from the Treasury, will meet during the recess. "There will be no public hearings," "the work will go on in a quiet and orderly manner, so that when Congress meets again everything will be prepared for prompt and efficient action." It is a charming way—is it not?—to conduct the fiscal legislation of a free nation. No needless information sought, no troubling the mind of the public with worry about its own interests, everything done as secretly and comfortably as in the Grand Council of the Empire of the Little Father of All the Russias! You see, American merchants and manufacturers are such a timid, stupid, weak lot that they cannot be trusted with their own business; it is far better for them that it should be settled by a group of politicians who, as a rule, know nothing about business, and so can be relied on not to get frightened when they disturb it.

PEONAGE AND IMMIGRATION.

Mr. WILLIAMS of Mississippi has secured the passage by the House of a resolution directing the Committee on Immigration to investigate the treatment of immigrants in the cotton fields and in the lumber and turpentine camps. There was a lively debate. Mr. CLARK of Florida took occasion to accuse the Department of Justice, and especially Assistant Attorney General RUSSELL, of ignorance, unfairness, and inveracity, and Mr. WILLIAMS declared that false stories of ill-treatment had been circulated in Europe to prevent immigration to the South and to turn it in other directions. Mr. CLARK'S talk was violent and unconvincing; that of Mr. WILLIAMS was, of course, more temperate.

We hope the investigation will be thorough. We regret that it is to be confined to the treatment of immigrants. That certainly ought to be carefully looked into, but there is much prima facie evidence of even worse evils in the treatment of natives, white as well as black. We are aware that there is a motive for exaggeration and even for falsehood in some of this evidence, but there is quite enough of it to demand prompt attention. More of it relates to the treatment of natives than of immigrants, and to investigate the latter without the former seems to show sensitiveness to public opinion abroad and insensitiveness to wrongs at home.

There is a natural tendency to impute the origin of these accounts to Northern men, actuated by prejudice and interest. That does not apply to Assistant Attorney General RUSSELL, who is a Southern man. It does not apply to Mr. BRAGG of Alabama, who is the Chairman of the Board of Inspectors of County Prisons, and whose testimony has been of the most sweeping character. It does not apply to Justice EMORY SPEER of Georgia, who for years has led the attacks in his State on the evils complained of, or to Col. BRAD or the editor of The Atlanta Constitution, who have been engaged in the same work. From these and from like sources there is an amount of evidence of crying evil which should thoroughly be investigated.

There are several features of the law and of practice in the South which have led to this trouble. One is the chain-gangs, with which the public authorities undertake to do work by contract or otherwise. The second is the provision by which fines are worked out through forced labor for those who have paid the fines. A third is the law prevailing in some States by which civil contracts are enforced by labor under the sentence of a court. And finally there is the practice, in the more thinly settled districts, by which employers use force in compelling the observance of contracts alleged by them to exist. It will easily be seen that all these modes of dealing with workmen are liable to serious abuses, and these abuses are likely to be worse where the workmen are of an ignorant and helpless class, and where they are employed in regions remote from populous centres, with little current communication and a low organization of society. It would be an error to infer that they are due to the character of the Southern employers. They are due to the tendency, which is universal, to take advantage of the weak when society does not adequately protect them. Power without responsibility, under the influence of greed, has produced like evils in every land and with every race. They are nevertheless very gross and cruel, and no agency should be neglected through which they can be abolished. Congressional investigation is one step in that direction.

SOBERING UP.

The conservatism characteristic of the Pennsylvania Railway management lends weight to the declaration in its just issued annual report as to the causes of the setback in the railway business:

> An important one undoubtedly was the fear that, as the result of recent Federal and State legislation, the regulation of the railways had approached so nearly to an effort to control their management and revenues that the investments therein were not assured of that protection to which they are justly entitled. The railways have to face the loss of revenue consequent upon the enforced idleness of a large portion of their equipment, while to a proportionate number of their employés this has necessarily brought about either an entire loss of employment or a material reduction in their hours of labor.

Who that recalls the frame of mind in which these laws were passed will not agree that these words are studiously moderate? The undigested railway legislation from which the country is reaping bitter fruit makes the undigested securities of Wall Street seem relative sanity. In Nebraska, when there were forty-one bills pending, the railways had an entire evening, from 7 to 10:30, to discuss them all, and say why sentence should not be passed. The railways declined the derisory invitation and were told by a committeeman: "The people have made up their minds you railroads are making too much money, and it's just a question of where we are going to make the cut."

Pennsylvania Company officials attended the Ohio Legislature hearing and afterward described their experiences. "The House is certainly crazy from the front to the back door. We thought they were going to hold an investigation, but it looked to me like a railroad funeral. You ought to see the funny bills they have got pending, and every one of them will probably pass." President MCCREA himself attended the Pennsylvania hearing, and wrote the Governor a letter which is a model of restrained argument. All that is now described as a result was then predicted as a certainty. The "funny" bills passed, nevertheless.

If the worst that we are suffering were the 350,000 empty freight cars, with all that they imply of idle mills and empty dinner pails, it might be endured with whatever patience we could summon to await the passing of the clouds. But the prostration of the railway business is a mere incident to the saturnalia of legislation. We have seen railways refused licenses to do business in a State. We have seen a Federal Judge bitterly submit to a policy dictated to him, and we have had Governors threaten to administer railways by soldiers, the chief offense being that they insisted upon going into court, and moreover getting decisions sustained upon appeal. And when these things were doing it was a brave man who dared to characterize them as they deserved, lest he be thought an enemy of the poor and no such friend of the people as those who defended such preposterous offenses against the teachings of experience.

It seems almost incredible to write down the fact that nevertheless the rate per ton per mile, which was 93 cents in 1890, was 77 cents in 1907, and that the average passenger fare clings to 2 cents like a leech year after year. If the railways could charge 90 cents, or even 80 cents, they would prosper.

AUTOMATIC MUSICAL MACHINES.

In The Atlantic Monthly Mr. LEO RICH LEWIS has an entertaining and instructive article on "Music Education and 'Automatics.'" His argument is that self-playing instruments are not artistically unimportant. The proposition that "music is a language" Mr. LEWIS proves conclusively, without entering into bewildering technicalities. He does not invade the field of the metaphysician or the aesthetician.

Music is a language, because it embodies itself in an orderly discourse. Its definiteness is proved by the concurrent evidence of millions of satisfied—and a smaller army of satiated—auditors.

The "average music lover's" appreciation of the performances of great interpreters of music is apt to be incomplete because he does not thoroughly understand the language. The musically educated, especially those endowed with special musical skill, have a great advantage. But with the modern automatic musical machines, in spite of the deficiencies of the best of them, the means of comprehending the language of music are within the reach of thousands hitherto uneducated musically. The automatic instrument is the most efficient agency of musical education yet discovered.

We have dwelt only on the main points of Mr. LEWIS'S argument, but those are enough to show that it strengthens the position of the composers who claim payment for the use of their works on perforated rolls, disks, or other appliances used in automatic machines. Mr. LEWIS does not touch upon this branch of his subject at all; perhaps it was not in his mind. But if the "automatics" have artistic importance, if they are among the best media of musical education, if their purely commercial value is so large as Mr. LEWIS seems to prove, clearly the composer whose music they employ should have his share of the profits they are bound to secure. A composer who is paid for giving the musically enlightened aesthetic entertainment is also entitled to payment for his services as an educator of the musically unenlightened.

SOMEWHAT REASSURING.

The residents of the upper west side in Manhattan are to be congratulated on the quick arrest of the footpads who assaulted and robbed Mr. MACLEOD early yesterday morning. The ease with which the detective captured them, and the indirect but convincing admission of his guilt by one of them, indicate that they are novices in the practice of highway robbery, but it is likely that many of the similar crimes committed lately in this and other boroughs were the work of inexpert rascals. It does not require much practice for two or three men to "hold up" a lone, unarmed pedestrian.

We hasten to congratulate the police. People were beginning to fear they had lost the knack of capturing thieves, although, in fact, the police detectives last year doubled their record of arrests. But there has been a great deal of not unreasonable alarm, and, consequently, a great deal of discontent with the department. It lacks patrolmen, and detectives appear only after the commission of crime.

Pour water upon the face of a photograph, it falls to the floor. Cover the photograph with blotting paper, and the meshes must first be saturated before the water can trickle from the lower edge of the card. By such ocular demonstration Chief Forester PINCHOT showed to a Congressional committee the need of purchasing forest preserves in the Southern Appalachian and White Mountains. The humus of the forests, which holds five times its own weight in water, is being stripped from the mountains by erosion over the cut areas, and from these great watersheds dispatches are now daily reporting disastrous floods, the usual precursors of Summer droughts. The regulation of powerful streams for manufacturing purposes is, of course, dependent upon the retaining properties of the forest humus.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Mysteries More Than One.

It is not quite impossible, but surely it is difficult, to see how anybody shrewd enough to be a gambler and eminent enough in his profession to take part in, or even to be informed about, the raising of a great fund for the purpose of buying legislative protection could have written to the Governor, disclosing the plan and boasting the certainty of its success. To do this would be so obviously both dangerous and useless that most people who read the letter in question after it was given out for publication at the Executive Chamber must have leaped to the conclusion that the letter, even if signed with a gambler's name, was the production by somebody extremely hostile to race-track gambling, who thus expected to excite indignation against everybody engaged in that occupation.

It had about all the earmarks of unauthenticity, and, although nearly as stupid from the reformer's standpoint as from that of the bookmakers and their friends, its stupidity was distinctly of the kind not to be expected from the latter, while it is well known, alas! that there be virtuous folk who are almost as little scrupulous as judicious when seeking the attainment of what they know or think a good end. The Governor himself, we are glad to learn, says that the letter was given out before he had seen it, whence we infer that somebody in his office had had a bad quarter of an hour with his Excellency.

We do wish, however, that in addition to disclaiming responsibility for the publication of this foolish letter, the Governor had not also announced what is apparently his belief that a gambler was its author. Unless he has verified the signature very carefully—as, of course, he hasn't—we cannot see how he can even suspect such to be the case, and a like inability confronts us when we try to figure out how, on his theory, he is under the slightest obligation to refrain from exposing "the author to the revenge of the fraternity whose traditions he had violated." The discomfort of a gloating corruptionist should not be a matter of much consequence to the Gubernatorial mind.

Incidentally, it should be remembered that, whatever may have been the origin of the letter, the chance that the gamblers may try the effect of money as a means of protecting their business will still remain.

Bad Roads Well Advertised.

New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, and Illinois having each been held up to the world's derisive view as having roads no better than those of lands making no pretenses at all to civilization, now it is Iowa's turn to take its share of this National disgrace, and before the Paris-bound automobiles reach the Pacific Coast half a dozen more proud States will have to endure the same humiliation.

Of course we knew the quality of our roads before, but hitherto it has been a fairly well concealed scandal, discussed only in the family, as it were, and not unendurable. At present our stupid and obstinate refusal to make the best possible investment of our public money, which good roads undoubtedly are, has been widely advertised in all the lands where the lesson taught by the Romans has been heeded, and "abroad" has had its attention fixed on undeniable facts going to support it in its inclination to regard us as a lot of barbarians.

If bad roads were a form of economy there would be some excuse for them, despite our boundless natural resources, but they are the proofs of a reckless extravagance and a constant and heavy drain on the purse of every inhabitant of the country, to say nothing about the enormous amount of physical discomfort they cause. And we are a people that profess a readiness to pay any price for comfort—who jeer mercilessly at the European for living in cold houses in Winter and refusing to mitigate with ice the terrors of Summer heat!

And our bad roads are so extremely bad! When machines easily capable of making anywhere from 200 to 400 miles in a ten-hour day can go but ten or twenty, badness has reached its limit.

FOLLOWING THE RACING MOTORS

Children in the Public Schools Much Interested in the Contest.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The inclosed story by a little fourth-grade pupil, shows how one class is benefiting by THE TIMES'S accounts of the New York to Paris race. There is great delight manifested because the American car has kept the lead, so that these accounts, besides giving us subjects for language and geography, are helping to develop the spirit of patriotism, so much needed in schools.

A RACE AROUND THE WORLD.

There are five automobiles racing from New York to Paris. They started at Times Square New York on Feb. 12, 1908.

There is one Italian car, one American, one German, and two French cars. There were three French cars but the smallest one called the "Midget" dropped out.

They went to Albany and across New York state to Buffalo which is at the end of Lake Erie.

The last stop was at Michigan City and three of the cars are now at Chicago.

They will have to go through United States and Canada then across Alaska and Siberia across Europe to Paris which is in France.

THE NEW YORK TIMES is very much interested in the race, also a Paris paper called the Matin. THE TIMES gives an account of the race every day with a map.

Why Not a Mounted Police Patrol?

To the Editor of The New York Times:

A paragraph in your issue of yesterday relative to the class of young men who are so eager to join the force of aqueduct police under the leadership of Chief Waldo brings to mind what would almost certainly result if this country were to adopt the Canadian and Australian system of mounted police for patrolling districts outside of municipalities.

I venture to assert that such a condition as now exists in Kentucky would be impossible in either Canada or Australia, and with this example of what kindred communities accomplish by effectively policing the remotest bounds of settlement, it seems incomprehensible that this great country should be content to quietly submit to such outrages upon civilization as are so frequently reported in your columns.

It is evident from the paragraph to which I refer that if such a force were organized under a suitable chief it would attract the same high class of young men as experience proves it to do in Canada and Australia, with infinite benefit to these similar countries, with similar free institutions to the United States, but where an insignificant and unruly minority would be prevented from terrorising a whole community and actually paralyzing the power of the State. An Appreciation of Mayor McClellan.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Your comment in an editorial column of this morning's TIMES urges me to add a word of appreciation of the manner and matter of the admirable tribute to Saint-Gaudens offered by Mayor McClellan at the memorial meeting last Saturday afternoon. The address had none of the earmarks of a perfunctory performance compiled for the occasion, but was the work of an individual who, through taste and cultivation, was familiar with many masterpieces of the past. The Mayor spoke with the culture, polish, and appreciation of a connoisseur, and gave to the ceremonies an air of dignity and impressiveness that seemed to mark an epoch in the history of our city. That its chief citizen, its Mayor, immersed as he must be in the material interests of his office, could so adequately fill the requirements of his temporary role as panegyrist of the works of a great artist is of most hopeful significance, and I hail the occasion as a fair omen of the future.

Subway Service to South Ferry.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

"A Young Brooklynite" makes a very sensible suggestion in your issue of March 1. While the Subway service to Brooklyn is inadequate, the South Ferry service is simply an aggravation. I have waited fifteen minutes for a South Ferry train many times since the new schedule went into effect, yet the Brooklyn trains were crowded. A three-minute shuttle train from Bowling Green to South Ferry would vastly improve the service to both terminals, as passengers bound for South Ferry could take the first express anywhere along the line and change at Bowling Green, while the Brooklyn passengers could also take the first express at any station, which would prevent the overcrowding of platforms.

The question arises, Could the ever neglected South Ferry passengers be sure of a three-minute shuttle train if they resigned their few through express trains to their Brooklyn brethren? A RICHMONDITE.

From a Philosophical Little Girl.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I know a little boy who has for his best friend a street cleaner. He is but three and a half years old, but every morning the minute he sees his friend he gets his shovel and brush and goes off down the street as though he were a big man. The rain doesn't keep him in, for he has a rubber coat and cap, with large rubber boots, and so he is seen every morning.

He came home the other day and told his mother that John had been telling him of the fairy that lives in the Irish potato. How nice it must be for John to have this little chattering boy at his side while he is working, and he certainly appreciates it, for when Christmas came around he gave the little boy a trumpet and some candy, and he was invited in to see the little boy's tree and to get his present.

Who can tell what good this is doing the man? Probably keeping him from drinking, and surely it does the little boy no harm.

OHIO'S CONVENTION WIPES OUT FORAKER

No Man Suspected of Sympathy for Him Permitted on State Committee.

GARFIELD ON THE FLURRY

Declares Evils Should Have Been Exposed Despite Results—Platform Is to Meet Taft's Wishes.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, March 3.—Followers of Secretary Taft took entire possession of the Republican State machinery the first day of the State Convention to-day. In preparation for the indorsement of Mr. Taft for the Presidency, which is to be given to-morrow, every man who was suspected of any sympathy for Senators Foraker and Dick was wiped off the State Committee and only uncompromising Taft men were put on guard. The newly-constituted committee to-night re-elected Walter F. Brown of Toledo as Chairman.

The pictures of Senators Foraker and Dick were hung in the Convention Hall, and the platform which will be presented to-morrow will have a plank commending the "Ohio Representatives in Congress," without, however, mentioning any of them by name. At the same time another plank will strongly indorse the passage of the Railway Rate bill, against which Senator Foraker fought so vigorously.

James R. Garfield, Secretary of the Interior, was made Temporary Chairman. In his speech Mr. Garfield said that in the coming campaign the all-absorbing issue would be—shall the policies of President Roosevelt be approved and continued?

"Among our opponents," he went on, "there are the two extremes—those who say we have gone too far and those who say we have not gone far enough. The former attribute the financial crisis through which we have passed and its resulting depression to the President's policies. They object to the exposure and decry those who have made the exposure. They are unwilling to admit that trouble came because of the wrong and the evil that was exposed.

"It is true that public confidence has been shaken by reason of these disclosures, and necessarily legitimate business has suffered to some extent, but such loss and suffering was necessary in order to root out the evils that were sapping our industrial life. Exposure of wrongs has cleared the air, and legitimate business is to-day stronger and cleaner because of what has been done.

"On the other hand, as to those who say we have not gone far enough, the man who would destroy corporations because some of their managers have misused their powers, who would prohibit labor unions because of the evil deeds of some of their leaders, who would confiscate property because it is unequally distributed, who would have the Government own and operate all public utilities because some have been ill or corruptly managed, is as wrong in his judgment of conditions as are those who cry that we have gone too far.

"The Republican Party, with the President, stands opposed to both these extremes. We have chosen the middle ground of sane, practical, constructive legislation.

"Our people have made their selection of a leader—William H. Taft. He stands prominent among the purest, wisest, and strongest men in the Nation. He is in hearty sympathy with the great policies of this Administration, not only because he believes in them, but also because he has been one of the chief advisers in formulating them, and one of the strongest aids in carrying them out."

The Resolutions Committee had little to consider in making the platform, so far as National issues are concerned. The platform heretofore outlined is one that Mr. Taft would be willing to stand upon in the event of his nomination at Chicago. He has seen the original draft and it has been the subject of discussion between him and President Roosevelt.

In addition to planks outlined yesterday there will be a recommendation in favor of the re-enactment of the employers' liability law. The plank relating to negroes will declare in favor of giving them all of their legal rights.

Gov. Andrew L. Harris will be renominated by acclamation.

SALE OF MANSFIELD RELICS.

Mary Garden Buys Furniture for Her Studio from Among His Effects.

There was a large crowd at the Mansfield sale at the American Art Galleries yesterday afternoon. Miss Mary Garden, the opera singer, was one of the purchasers. She bought a number of handsome pieces of furniture, which she said later she should use in fitting up a studio. She said that she was a great admirer of Mr. Mansfield, and went to the sale intending merely to look on, but stayed to buy.

The furniture of the Mansfield house was sold yesterday, with tapestries, two mantelpieces, and a few smaller articles. Francis C. Jones, the artist, bought an antique carved Italian chair, upholstered with garnet silk velvet.

Among Miss Garden's purchases were five large chairs, for which she paid $250. Three of these were elaborate throne chairs, two covered with green satin damask and the other with garnet silk and velvet, and two Italian Renaissance armchairs done in red satin damask. Miss Garden also bought a Hepplewhite settee covered with Louis XVI. brocade for $40, a Hepplewhite chair, also covered with brocade, for $20; a Louis XVI. bergere, another handsome carved, gilded and brocade covered armchair for $75, a Louis XV. marquetry tea table, with glass tray, for $42.50, and a carved oak Gothic table for $90.

The largest tapestry panel, an eighteenth century French weave, "Paris and Helen of Troy," brought $310; a smaller one of the same period, with a religious scene, $200, and a Flemish tapestry of the sixteenth century, the "Coronation of Alexander the Great," brought $280. A Louis XV. cope went to William Skinner for $160. The Henri Deux mantel brought $120. A curtain of tapestry was sold to Schubert Brothers for $200. The returns for the sale were $7,212, making the total for the house furnishings $10,609.

The forty-three paintings of the evening sale brought $5,170, making a grand total for the Mansfield collection of $15,779. John D. Chapman bought Sir Thomas Lawrence's "A Portrait of the Hon. Thomas Cane," which in 1906 Mr. Mansfield bought of a nephew of Mr. Cane, to whom it had been bequeathed. An uncompleted portrait of David Garrick by George Romney, for which Mr. Mansfield paid $1,000, and which has been appraised since at a much higher price, went to W. T. Emmett for $330, and a picture attributed to Inness, "Meadows Parched Brown by a Summer's Drought," for which Mr. Mansfield paid $1,500, went to W. T. Hunter for $420. One of Turner's Venice scenes, "The Dogana," a canvas 5½ inches by 8½ inches, was bought by Mr. Chapman for $350.

Largilliere's "Portrait of Louvois" went to J. B. Ichenhauser for $360, and Hogarth's picture of himself to P. H. McMahon for $315. A charming "Portrait of a Child," a girl of 8, elaborately gowned in a red frock embroidered in gold, falling to her feet, a picture of the Spanish school, went to Mr. Chapman for $260. L. A. Lanthier paid $200 for a three-quarter-length portrait of the Duke of Marlborough by Sir Godfrey Kneller, and W. H. Rogers paid the same for a waist-length portrait of the great soldier by Sir Peter Lely. A full-length portrait of David Garrick, leaning against a pedestal upon which stands a bust of Shakespeare, by Gainsborough Dupont, went to W. W. Brown for $180. The curious "Hotel Bourgogne in Moliere's Time" brought $180, an uninteresting cattle picture by Verboeckhoven $105, Eckhardt's portrait of Lady Maria Walpole $130, and Allan Ramsay's "Portrait of a Nobleman" went to H. T. Thompson for $200. W. O. Hickok paid $110 for "Monsignor Gagne," a delightful color study by W. de Paredes for a larger work.

TAFT AND FORD CLASH.

Secretary Resents New Yorker's Witty Speech on "Theodore the First."

BOSTON, March 3.—A witty address by Simeon Ford of New York, at the expense of President Roosevelt and Secretary Taft, before the Boston Real Estate Exchange and Auction Board, at the Hotel Somerset, late to-night, brought Mr. Taft to his feet in a prompt response to what he termed an insinuation against "his chief." Mr. Taft attended the meeting after the Republican Club dinner.

Mr. Ford's striking remark which called forth the response was: "I look upon Theodore the First as a sort of political blue pill. The body politic doubtless was suffering from many disorders, the elimination of which was necessary. Well, we have had our dose all right. His last message certainly made a noise like a third term."

When Secretary Taft arose he referred to Mr. Ford's remarks as follows:

"I am put in an embarrassing position. If I could feel that what he said was mere pleasantry, whether it cast reflections upon myself or my chief, I should feel different. If those remarks were intended for another purpose every impulse of loyalty in me requires an answer.

"When I love a chief and when I admire him from top to toe, I cannot be silent and permit such insinuations, although they may be hidden in a jest. I don't mean to say that the American people should not have humor. If I could not appreciate and enjoy humor, and if I could not stand a joke, I should retire to a monastery."

The Secretary then took up the subject of the "open door and trade with China."

INQUIRY INTO BANK LOANS.

Senator Tillman Asks for Reports and Takes a Fling at "Stock Gambling."

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—"Stock gambling is the most pernicious, dangerous, and devilish of all the pernicious, dangerous, and devilish things done in New York."

With these words Senator TILLMAN today introduced a resolution which is intended to stop loans by National banks to speculators. The resolution merely calls for information, but he plans legislation later. His efforts were checked for the moment by the interposition of an objection by Senator ALDRICH.

The Tillman resolution, which follows fast on the heels of the Hepburn bill, calls on the Secretary of the Treasury to furnish complete data of all loans made by National banks in New York for the six months prior to Dec. 1 last. It also provides that the names of all borrowers be made public, and insists that information be supplied with reference to whether such funds were used for stock speculation. Lists of stocks and bonds offered as collateral for such loans are also desired. He also seeks information as to whether the loans were made on time or call.

Senator Tillman asked that his resolution be adopted at once. Mr. Aldrich rose, however, and blocked its passage. He declared that the New York banks and the New York Exchange were being unjustly criticised.

"There is as much so-called gambling in stocks being undertaken in other cities as in New York," he said. "It strikes me that the resolution should be made more general."

Mr. Tillman was aroused. He asked, sarcastically, if the Senator from Rhode Island desired to block the resolution in order to inquire more fully into the question whether special interests would be hit. To this Mr. Aldrich retorted that he would welcome any legislation that would end unsafe financial methods, but declared he did not believe New York was the centre of iniquity in this respect. The resolution accordingly went over.

The Chicago Board of Trade has a committee here, headed by the President, which is striving to explain to Congress that it is engaged in a legitimate business.

ALDRICH BILL MAY NOT PASS.

McCumber Attacks Currency Measure and Author Dodges Date for Vote.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—Senator McCUMBER, in a speech to-day that for lukewarmness holds the Senate record, declared he would vote for the Aldrich bill, but he let it be known that he was not in favor of it.

McCumber's speech has increased the nervousness with which Aldrich regards the future of his measure. The gravity of the situation, as viewed from the position of the Chairman of the Committee on Finance, was disclosed when he dodged the question of asking for a date on which the bill might come up for a vote.

"I had intended to ask that a date be fixed," said Aldrich, "but the Senator from Wisconsin, Mr. La Follette, has been ill. He desires to speak on certain provisions of the bill, and I shall not press the point."

When the North Dakota Senator delivered his statement there was a gasp of surprise. It means that the Republicans do not know just how widespread is the revolt against the Aldrich measure. Beveridge caused astonishment by his defection yesterday when he joined with Senator Smith of Michigan in an attack on the bond feature of the bill, but was nothing compared with the sensation that greeted McCumber's desertion.

"I am not in sympathy with this legislation," said McCumber. "I believe that elastic currency is pernicious and every whit as bad as an elastic conscience. But I believe also that there is an almost universal demand for this elasticity, and for that reason I am willing to vote for this bill after it has been amended."

Talking of fixing a day for a vote has now been superseded by talk of obtaining a "better organization" among the friends of the bill before a vote is seriously considered. There could be no better indication of the straits in which Aldrich finds himself and his bill. When the bill was introduced there was no question as to its prompt passage. Now, however, the question has become whether it can be forced through or not, with its chances daily growing slimmer.

NAVAL SHIPBUILDING RECORD.

Collier Prometheus Will Be Constructed at Mare Island in Ten Months.

VALLEJO, Cal., March 3.—In an endeavor to make a record for the Mare Island Navy Yard, which will result in a battleship being constructed here, work on the collier Prometheus, being built here at a cost of $1,550,000, is being rushed, and will be completed by the construction and repair departments in ten months.

This will be the greatest record ever made in shipbuilding either in a Government or private yard.

ROSSITER PUBLIC PRINTER.

Understood That President Will Appoint Him to Succeed Stillings.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—It is understood that the President will appoint W. S. Rossiter of New York to be Public Printer, to succeed Charles S. Stillings of Massachusetts.

Mr. Rossiter has been for several years Chief Clerk of the Census Office, and recently was detailed by the President to make an examination into the conduct of business at the Government Printing Office.

First 46-Star Flag for Oklahoma.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—A joint resolution was adopted by the House of Representatives to-day donating to the State of Oklahoma "the first flag bearing forty-six stars which for the first time floats over the Capitol to-day." The resolution places the flag in the custody of the Oklahoma Historial Society.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 3.—Representative Stevens of Minnesota to-day introduced a bill to remove the duty on pulp wood and white paper.

WOMEN BESIEGE NATIONAL CAPITAL.

Argue for Suffrage, Criticise the Marble Room, and Size Up Our Statesmen.

CLAY IS PERFECTLY DEAR

Some Others Are Not So, Especially Beveridge—Sergeant at Arms Rescues Beleaguered Statesmen.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—Almost one hundred suffragists besieged the Capitol to-day in search of the ballot. They argued before the House Committee on Judiciary, and then descended on the Senate Committee on Woman Suffrage. For three hours they talked. Finally they were shooed from the Marble Room of the Senate by the Sergeant at Arms, for it was visibly impossible for the Senate to deal in profoundities while the chatter from across the hall made its way through the swing doors.

As a result of the visit the women relieved themselves of much argument as to why they should be permitted to vote. They also found much to criticise in the furnishings of the Marble Room. Likewise they went away with well-conceived ideas of certain members of Congress. The estimates of public men, which are practically unanimous, were polled tonight. They follow:

Senator Clay—"Perfectly dear."
Senator Johnston—"Sweet old thing."
Senator Beveridge—"Nasty, conceited young upstart."
Senator Burkett—"Rude Westerner."
Senator Wetmore—"Brute."
Senator Owen—"Dear old darling."
Representative Jenkins—"Just a dear."

There were other expressions, but these cover the principal actors in to-day's proceedings. Incidentally, it might be said that Senators Beveridge, Burkett, and Wetmore, who are members of the Committee on Woman Suffrage, were not present to face the music. Senator Owen was emphatically present, for he made one of his impassioned speeches and filled the atmosphere with eloquence for the women at the hearing in the House committee room.

It was an imposing crowd that took possession of the House and Senate. Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt of New York, the International President of the Suffragists' Association, and the Rev. Anna Howard Shaw of Philadelphia, President of the American Suffragists, led the procession. When they reached the Marble Room they found Senator Clay waiting them. He wore Senatorial habiliments and a strained smile.

"Ladies," he said, and bowed low as they streamed into the room.

Mrs. Catt denounced the lack of attendance of members of the committee.

"Never since we have been coming here," she said, "have there been more than two or three Senators present to hear us."

Her indignation was contagious. Senator Clay was saved by the timely arrival of Senator Johnston, who ambled in with the air of a martyr going to the stake.

"What we women are asking for," said Mrs. Catt, "is every bit as constitutional as the enfranchisement of the negro. You don't want us to go to the negro and beg him to give us a voice in this free Government, do you? Then give us some hope of Congressional action looking toward a constitutional amendment."

"Yes, we should," began the Rev. Mrs. Shaw.

"In tones of appeal and in tones of warning," said Mrs. Isabella Ballard of New York, "we repeat the phrase, 'taxation without representation is tyranny.'"

Senator Clay looked impressed with the solemnity of the declaration. Under the table he held tightly to the coattails of Johnston, who showed signs of bolting. Johnston cleared his throat to speak, but changed his mind. Fifteen women began to speak at the same time.

"Really, ladies," said Johnston, half rising.

"Really, ladies—"

Clay balked his attempt at flight. They remained and listened to the demand for action. Mrs. Belva Lockwood, who once ran for the Presidency, was a speaker.

When the Senate was about to convene, Senator Clay sought to usher the suffragists out in true Southern style. He failed. The Sergeant at Arms Ransdell was called. He did his best to be tactful, but his name really should be added to the poll list, for every one of the visitors said he was "perfectly horrid."

The hearing before the House Committee on Judiciary was in charge of Mrs. Harriet Taylor Upton of Ohio. Among the speakers were Miss Emma Gillette of Washington, Mrs. Catt, Mrs. Richard W. Fitzgerald of Massachusetts, Senator Owen, Miss Rose Sullivan of Utah, Mrs. Mary E. Craigie of New York, Mrs. Ida Porter Boyer of Pennsylvania, and Miss Kate Gordon of Louisiana.

DEFENDS SANTIAGO GUNNERY.

Prof. Alger Says American Shooting at Santiago Equaled That of Any Navy.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—Four naval officers, all experts in turret construction and ammunition manufacture, to-day testified before the Senate Naval Committee in defense of the American Navy against all forms of criticism.

Prof. P. R. Alger, instructor in mathematics at the Naval Academy, and a member of the Special Board on Turrets, defended the American Navy against the criticism made by Commander Sims that poor marksmanship was shown at Santiago. He declared that American gunnery was as good as that of any other navy at that time, and that at the present time there was no navy in the world that could surpass the American in straight shooting.

He said that since that time there had been "a revival of gunnery," due largely to Commander Sims's campaign for the installation of the telescope sights for big guns, which were adopted from the British. He said the guns were all right at Santiago, but the men had not learned how to shoot them.

The finding of foreign substances in sacks of powder, put up as charges, was explained by Prof. Alger, who said that "such gross carelessness" was not possible now, because since the appointment of Admiral Converse as Chief of the Bureau of Ordnance a system of inspection had been inaugurated.

Lieut. Commander Joseph Straus spoke of Government powder making, and Commander F. F. Fletcher and V. O. Chase spoke of turret construction.

"ROUGH RIDER" ENVOY OUT.

J. J. W. Lee Compelled to Leave Diplomatic Service Because of Ill-Health.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—Joseph J. W. Lee of Maryland, formerly a "Rough Rider," has tendered his resignation, because of ill-health, to the President as Minister to Guatemala, and it has been accepted. The nomination of William Heinke of Kansas as Mr. Lee's successor has been sent to the Senate by the President.

Porter Nomination Withdrawn.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—The President sent to the Senate to-day the nomination for United States Marshal for the Eastern District of Oklahoma of Samuel Grant Victor, in place of Grosvenor A. Porter, whose nomination was withdrawn at the request of the Senate Judiciary Committee. It was stated at the White House that Mr. Porter was in no way related to either the President or Mrs. Roosevelt, as had been published.

MISS HARRIMAN BRIDE OF ROBERT L. GERRY

Grace Church So Crowded by Friends of the Pair That Many Had to Stand in Aisles.

GREAT CRUSH IN BROADWAY

Wedding Held at Noon and Followed by Reception at Home in Fifth Avenue.

Robert Livingston Gerry, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. Elbridge T. Gerry, and Miss Cornelia Averell Harriman, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Harriman, were married at noon yesterday in Grace Church. The crowd in Broadway was so great during and after the ceremony that Inspectors Russell and Schmittberger, with thirty mounted men and fifty foot patrolmen, had their hands full clearing a passageway for the bridal cortège.

The crowd began to gather as early as 11:30 o'clock, and at 12:30, when the guests left the church, a solid mass of humanity filled the street and sidewalks as far north as Twelfth Street and as far to the south. To add to the jam, Broadway and the cross streets were filled with motor cars and carriages, and it was fully half an hour before all the guests had found their equippages.

The church was simply decorated. Just inside the door a porchlike entrance had been built of Southern smilax, on either side of which a large rubber tree stood against the wall. The chancel was a bower of flowering peach and almond trees, with palms as a background, and palms were placed at the sides of the church.

Special Musical Programme.

There was a special musical programme. James Helfernstein, the organist, played and the full choir sang. Miss Maude Morgan, the harpist, played, and Nahan Franko rendered violin solos, and his orchestra also played. As the guests were entering selections were given from Mendelssohn, Svensden, Dubois, Bach, Oberthur, and Gahne. Barnby's "O Perfect Love" was rendered for the processional, followed by a Wagner wedding march. The solo, "O Spread Thy Pure Wings O'er Them," was sung by Master Alexander Johnstone, and the Mendelssohn "Wedding March" was played for the recessional.

The number of guests were so great that not only was every seat filled, but many stood in the aisles, and even the vestibule was thronged with people well known in society, who awaited until after the ceremony to see the bridal party pass out.

The bridal procession was the same as announced in THE TIMES on Feb. 20, save that Miss Carol Harriman, the bride's younger sister, was unable through illness to be a bridesmaid. The procession was led by Averell Harriman, brother of the bride; Robert W. Goelet, a cousin of Mr. Gerry; Bradish G. H. Johnson, Monson Morris, Frederick Kernochan, and William Stackpole of New York, and John S. Ames and Aaron Davis of Boston.

Then came the five bridesmaids, including Miss Ruth Averell of Rochester and Miss Marion H. Clarke, both cousins of the bride; Miss Margaret Dix, daughter of the Rev. Dr. Morgan Dix; Miss Elsie Howland, and Miss Anita Peabody. All wore gowns of peach-colored chiffon trimmed with satin and embroidered, and topped by filet lace coats embroidered, and silver and brown tulle hats with brown ostrich plumes. Each girl carried a cluster of pink roses.

The bridesmaids were followed by Miss Mary Harriman, the maid of honor, who wore a peach-colored frock trimmed with pink messaline, and a brown tulle hat with pink ostrich plumes tipped with brown.

The Bride Enters.

The bride followed, escorted by her father, E. H. Harriman. She wore a princess robe of pure white satin, having a yoke and panels down the sides of old point de Venise, and wide sleeves of the same lace over short ones of chiffon. Her veil was a large square of exquisite point lace edged with a pointed border and caught with orange blossoms to form a soft edge over her golden brown coiffure. She wore a single short string of pearls and another smaller chain, to which a ruby and diamond pendant was attached, and carried white flowers.

Mr. Gerry, attended by his brother, Peter Goelet Gerry, as best man, stood waiting at the chancel to receive the bride.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. William R. Huntington, the rector of Grace Church, assisted by the Rev. J. H. McGuinnes of St. John's Church, at Arden, N. Y., where the Harrimans have their permanent home. The Right Rev. William Croswell Doane, Bishop of Albany, pronounced the benediction.

Reception at Harriman Home.

The church ceremony was followed by a reception for relatives and intimate friends at the Harriman home, 874 Fifth Avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Gerry received congratulations in the centre hall on the first floor, which had its electric chandeliers done in amber-colored lights, and quantities of forsythia and other yellow flowers were arranged in masses and trailed across the walls, to give the effect of sunshine.

Mrs. Harriman, the bride's mother, wore an Empire princess robe of pale mauve chiffon embroidered in silver, topped by a mauve hat trimmed with mauve plumes tipped in darker shades.

Mrs. Elbridge T. Gerry, mother of the bridegroom, was in rich purple satin cloth, brocaded in purple velvet and topped by a velvet coat to match and a plumed purple hat. Miss Gerry was in an Empire gown of dull blue velvet, embroidered in gold, topped by a pale blue plumed hat. Miss Mabel Gerry wore a gown of pale blue cloth, topped by a large hat of the same color, trimmed with pink wild roses.

Watts Sherman, the Misses Sherman, Mr. and Mrs. W. Storrs Wells, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Peters.

Mr. Gerry and his bride will sail next week for Europe, where they will travel for several months.

Match Essentially American.

The union of the Gerry and Harriman families has a peculiar interest from the fact that the marriage is essentially American, there having been no foreign intermarriages in either family for more than a hundred years. The bride's ancestors, through the Neilson and Bleecker lines, were closely identified with the early civil and military history of the Republic. John Neilson, her great-great-grandfather, was a Colonel in the Continental Army under Washington, and was elected from New Jersey to both the Continental Congress and the Constitutional Convention.

Mr. Gerry, who is a Harvard man, is the great grandson of the patriot and legislator, Elbridge Gerry of Massachusetts, who was the founder of the Massachusetts Admiralty Court. He was also a member of the Continental Congress, a signer of the Declaration, and one of the framers of the Constitution, but refused to sign that famous instrument on the ground that it conceded too great power to the President. He was sent on a special mission to France in 1797, was later chosen Governor of Massachusetts, and in 1812 was elected Vice President of the United States.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., March 3.—A large crowd of young people of this city were disappointed not to see Mr. and Mrs. Robert Livingston Gerry when their special train over the Ontario & Western Railroad stopped here at 6 o'clock to-night. The crowd cheered the special train, and several young women threw bouquets into the car occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Gerry.

The special train had the right of way to Delhi, in Delaware County, where Mr. and Mrs. Gerry will spend a few weeks at the Summer home of Commodore Elbridge T. Gerry on Lake Delaware.

TOO ILL TO BE BRIDESMAID.

Miss Carol Harriman Undergoes Second Operation and Is Improving.

Miss Carol Averell Harriman, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Harriman, had a relapse on Monday after her recent attack of mastoiditis, and consequently was unable to be a bridesmaid at the wedding of her sister, Miss Cornelia Harriman.

Miss Carol Harriman is a student at St. Timothy's School, near Baltimore. She was taken ill there over a month ago, and she was taken to the Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore, where an operation was performed.

About two weeks ago her mother, Mrs. Harriman, who had been with her during the operation, brought her to New York, and she was soon up and around the house in good spirits, and, the physicians hoped, would be in good condition to take part in the bridal procession.

Two or three days ago, however, she took a turn for the worse, and another operation was performed. Yesterday she improved steadily, and in the evening it was said at the Harriman house that she was well on the road to recovery again.

MISS McLEAN AN ARMY BRIDE.

The wedding of Lieut. William A. Dallam, Twelfth Cavalry, U. S. A., and Miss Bessie Maulsby McLean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald McLean, was celebrated yesterday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock in the Church of the Heavenly Rest. "RECTOR'S GARDEN" PLACE OF SENTIMENT

Full of Love and Flowery Speeches with Cupid Holding Carnival.

DUSTIN FARNUM THE STAR

In an Old-Fashioned Play, in Which All Good People Get Their Just Deserts.

THE RECTOR'S GARDEN, a new American comedy in four acts, by Byron Ongley. Bijou.

The Rev. Mr. Smiley	R. A. Roberts
Darby McPhee	Thomas B. Findlay
John Ballard	Charles Abbott
Bertha Cooper	Eileen Erroll
Mariah Phelps	Ina Hammer
Rex Ballard	Frank Darien
Felix Cooper	William Courtenay
Lilly Prince	Madeline Louis
Nick Beaver	Edward N. Ellis
Dr. Prince	Dustin Farnum
Blanche Cincioni	Grace Elliston
Mrs. Judd	Emily Marion
Mrs. Curley	Alice Kelfe
Farmer Judd	A. H. Simmons
Flora Curley	Zena Kelfe

Flowers of speech bloom plentifully in "The Rector's Garden," for everybody in the piece is in love. The only one immune from the sentimental microbe is the man of all work, and even he admits, in one way or another, that love is a fine thing and a man who has a hold on it is a fool to let it go. And one gathers that if he would he, too, could tell his love story. It is not necessary. For Mr. Byron Ongley, the author of this piece, has evidently gone on the principle that you can't have too much of a good thing. So even without the man of all work's contribution there is love and to spare.

The handsome young rector, who came near being a train robber in Montana, but who reformed in time and went into the Church, doesn't exactly make love all over the place, but he certainly looks it and feels it, and is not averse to being quizzed about it by his little sister, who is in love herself and so can talk very knowingly and prettily about Cupid's bows and arrows and all the rest of the things that young lovers seem to find important in these old-fashioned sentimental plays.

The rector is Dustin Farnum, of the charming smile and the persuasive personality, a good actor who has not been particularly well treated by his playwrights since he ceased to be the Virginian in Owen Wister's romance. And any one who knows Mr. Farnum's manner and his smile will be able to understand just how pleasantly he can carry off such a situation as the one in which he is ordered to pluck the blossom from his own favorite rose bush for the newly arrived young lady landscape gardener who has rented the adjoining property and mistakes him for the gardener and his place for her own. Also they will understand with what a fine show of manly dignity and strength he is able to discipline a hot-headed rival who persists in putting a wrong interpretation upon the young woman's presence in the rector's study after the noonday service.

Misunderstanding might have ended at this point but for the rector's generous donation of a coat to the sexton of his parish, who, being a lover also in his own humble way, has gone for a moonlight walk in the graveyard with his best lady friend. What more natural than for the hot-headed young Lieutenant to mistake the sexton in the parson's coat for the parson himself and the sexton's dulcinea for the adorable young lady landscape gardener? And what more likely than for him to tax them with their duplicity, thereby incurring the rector's displeasure.

It is at this point that our hero almost forgets that he is a perfect parson and raises his fists. Whereupon, being later offered a bishopric in Montana, he insists that he must first learn to control himself, and only thinks better of it when the lady landscape gardener in a most tactful leap-year style shows him the way duty and happiness lie.

It is all very sweetish and taffylike and long drawn out, a thing for very young people who like a story with lots of love in it, and who will not care in the least for the fact that as a play it harks back to a time when life was the last thing in the world to be thought of on the stage. And to such people Miss Elliston's singsong speech and her cold, precise method may seem very sweet, and Mr. Courtenay, with his tears and heart-throbs, very sad. But sophisticated folk will find more to enjoy in the simple eccentricities of Miss Hammer, Mr. Ellis, and Mr. Findlay, the first named being especially amusing in a bit of character that seems real.

MME. SEMBRICH'S RECITAL.

Carnegie Hall Filled at Her Second Appearance There This Season.

Mme. Sembrich's second song recital is now as eagerly looked forward to by admirers of her song singing as her first recital in the Autumn. Yesterday afternoon she appeared for the second time this season in Carnegie Hall, and was heard by many enthusiastic listeners who filled the hall very nearly full. Mme. Sembrich's programme contained several songs that she had not sung here before and a number that were old favorites. Her programmes are always interesting, always musical, always arranged with consummate skill and taste to produce the right effects of contrast and variety, and thereby to make each song count for its utmost. She selects from a great range, and yet with an unerring judgment as to what her voice, which does not fit the whole gamut of emotion and dramatic intensity that the Lieder writers have struck, can properly compass. Yesterday her programme was a delightful showing of many styles.

She began as she always does with old songs, Italian, French, German, and English. In such music she is peculiarly at home, and her singing has a peculiar value to intelligent listeners, because there are so few who to-day can rightfully be named with her for the purity of tone, beauty of legato, and of phrasing and finish of vocalization they demand. Bononcini's "Per la Gloria d'Adorari," Campra's "Chanson du Papillon," and the peaceful "Nel Cor piu non mi sento" by Paisiello, were examples of this style of singing. After the group was finished Mme. Sembrich was called back, and sang Mozart's "Veilchen" with perhaps more perfect artistic beauty and depth of feeling than any of the songs put down on the programme.

Of the classical German Lieder she had to repeat Schubert's "Serenade," to which she imparts the very essence of its impulsive and amorous gayety. In Franz's song "Widmung" her voice hardly sounded at its best in holding its sustained tones. A delightful addition to the current list of songs is the "Unbefangenheit" of Weber, who wrote many songs that are now quite neglected. This one is humorous, arch, melodious, and exactly adapted to Mme. Sembrich's style. She sings it with demonstrativeness, and her suggestion of the "aside" in the first two verses is charming. This song she had to repeat. Schumann's "Frühlingsnacht" she sings with a veritable outpouring of exuberant passion; and after this she gave another extra number, the same composer's "Aufträge."

Her new modern songs were interesting —César Franck's "Roses et Papillons," Reynaldo Hahn's "Le Printemps"—a fine song, melodious in inspiration and substantial in structure, which she had to repeat; a very pretty "Cradle Song" by Max Reger, and a most graceful love song by Wolf, "In den Schatten meiner Locken," from his "Spanisches Liederbuch." Edward MacDowell's setting of Mr. Howell's verse "Through the Meadow" is one of his prettiest songs, and Frank La Forge's "How Much I Love You" Mme. Sembrich sang with as much ardor as if it were an epochmaking production. Its melodiousness pleased, and she sang it again.

And then, after she had reached the end of the long list, with several added and repeated, she gave several more—the effective songs by Arensky in waltz measure that she introduced last Autumn, a song by Mrs. H. H. A. Beach, and finally Strauss's "Serenade."

CALVE IN CARMEN ONCE MORE.

Hammerstein Engages Her for Single Performance—Metropolitan's Bill.

Oscar Hammerstein has sprung another surprise on New York operagoers by engaging Emma Calvé for one performance of "Carmen," to be given next week, Friday, at the Manhattan Opera House. On this occasion Mr. Dufranne will sing Escamillo, but the remainder of the cast will be as usual.

On Monday of next week, Mme. Tetrazzini will sing "Crispino e la Comare," and on Wednesday "Lucia." Saturday afternoon Miss Garden and the usual cast will appear in "Pelléas et Mélisande." On Saturday night the bill will be "Un Ballo in Maschera."

"Il Trovatore" will be repeated on Monday of next week at the Metropolitan Opera House. On Wednesday, "Tosca" will be sung. "Mignon" is the bill for Thursday evening. On Friday Mme. Eames will sing the title rôle in "Aïda" for the first time this season. "Rigoletto" will be repeated at the Saturday matinée, and "Manon Lescaut" will be sung on Saturday night, with Mr. Martin in the rôle of the Chevalier.

At the concert Sunday evening, the soloists will be Mmes. Cavaliera and Homer and Messrs. Bonci, Stracciari, and Plançon. Mr. Ferrari will conduct.

TETRAZZINI ILL WITH COLD.

Diva's First Appearance in "Crispino e la Comare" Put Off Till Friday.

Mme. Tetrazzini, whose New York record for appearing according to announcement has hitherto been perfect, has at last succumbed to a New York cold.

She will not make her first appearance in "Crispino e la Comare" to-night, as was announced. Instead, "Pelléas et Mélisande," with Mary Garden and the usual cast, will be given.

The Ricci opera will have its revival on Friday night.

Mme. Tetrazzini's condition is said not to be serious, but it is thought better for her to rest now than to sing while feeling indisposed.

MENDELSSOHN HALL RECITALS

Interesting Songs by Ellen Learned—A Violinist Heard.

Two recitals were given in Mendelssohn Hall yesterday. In the afternoon, Ellen Learned, a contralto, gave a song recital which was well attended. The programme was interesting and included specimens of song-writers' work from Bach to MacDowell.

Jan Munkacsy, labeled on the programme as a "Hungarian virtuoso," gave a violin recital in the evening for which there seemed to be little occasion. The violinist lacks technique, sense of rhythm, quality of tone, and most of the other essentials of finished playing. A Mozart minuet and several other numbers were more or less distorted under his bow.

EMPIRE BALLETS FOR NEW YORKERS

Maro Klaw Arranges to Bring Over the Best London Dancing Spectacles.

DEFIES A THEATRICAL AXIOM

Hitherto New York Managers Have Believed That the City Does Not Like Ballets.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, March 3.—Maro Klaw, head of the theatrical firm of Klaw & Erlanger, New York, left for the Continent to-day after completing arrangements whereby New York in the future will be able to see the best ballets produced on this side of the ocean.

For a long time it had been an axiom among the men who direct theatrical affairs in America that New York did not care about ballets, and that the successes made here and on the Continent by dancing spectacles could not be dpulicated there. But Mr. Klaw is now convinced that the success of Adeline Genee in "The Soul Kiss" in New York disproves the old theory.

"As everybody knows," he said before his departure to-day, "the ballets which have been given at the Empire Theatre in London are the best of their kind. They are done on a scale that is attempted nowhere else. Consequently I have made an arrangement with the Empire management by which Klaw & Erlanger hereafter will have the choice of their best ballets for New York."

MISS ANGLIN IN NEW PLAY.

She Will Present "The Awakening of Helena Ritchie" in the Fall.

Margaret Anglin will complete her experiments next week with her new play, "The Awakening of Helena Ritchie," and after a brief rest will resume her starring tour with Henry Miller in "The Great Divide" on Monday, March 30. Miss Anglin has revised her plans for this Spring.

Mr. Williamson of Australia has her under contract for a season of twenty weeks in Melbourne and Sydney, which was to begin this month, but he released her by cable so that she might try her new play and keep her American contracts in "The Great Divide" this Spring. Her starring tour in the Moody play will continue until May 16. On May 22 Miss Anglin will sail by the Canadian Pacific Steamship Line from Vancouver, B. C., accompanied by two friends, who are to be her guests, and by her secretary and two maids. She will open in Sydney on June 27, and after twenty weeks she will return to America and present "The Awakening of Helena Ritchie" in New York.

New Play at the Irving Place.

"The Fourth Commandment"—"Das Vierte Gebot"—a realistic drama, by Ludwig Anzengruber, had its first American presentation at the Irving Place Theatre last night. The play deals in an ironic way with the subject of the duties that children owe their parents. The cast included Hedwig Reicher, Milli Reimann, and others of the German Theatre forces. The play will be given for the rest of the week.

"Way Down East" Going to London.

Charles Frohman arranged with William A. Brady by cable yesterday to present "Way Down East" at the Aldwych Theatre in London on April 18. The American season of this play will close on March 28 in Philadelphia, and the entire company will sail for Europe the following week. The play has been running continuously in America for twelve years.

Blanche Walsh Collapses.

Special to The New York Times.

SHREVEPORT, La., March 3.—Blanche Walsh, the actress, who was to appear at the Grand Opera House here this evening, collapsed in her apartments at the Phoenix Hotel at 5:30 o'clock this afternoon, and for a time it was believed she was dying. Miss Walsh fainted three times on the stage at Beaumont, Texas, last night. Two physicians were called, and worked with Miss Walsh till 9:30 o'clock before an improvement was noticed. Manager Moore then obtained a special car, and took Miss Walsh to Memphis for treatment.

He enlisted in the Prussian army and served as a Lieutenant during the Danish war in 1864, and in the campaign of 1866, coming to this country two years later, and married Tecla Meyer. They had two children—Julius Huben, a member of the Consolidated Stock Exchange, and Mrs. George Young—who survive. Mr. Huben joined the Consolidated Stock Exchange on March 14, 1885, and was immediately made Secretary, and held the position until his death. He was a member of Sagamore Lodge, F. & A. M.

WESTERN SWIMMER WANTS NEW MATCH

TWO RECORDS ARE REDUCED

Aquatic Competitions the Feature in Madison Square Garden Yesterday—The Day's Marks in Other Sports.

In addition to two records that were broken in yesterday's aquatic sports at the Sportsman's Show in Madison Square Garden, the swimmers were interested in a new proposition from the Illinois champion Handy for a match of an entirely new character with the New York Athletic Club champion, Daniels. Handy has one match with Daniels which he must swim, and in which, on records, the Western swimmer is regarded by Eastern experts as being at a disadvantage. Handy has not conceded this, but he was busy yesterday trying to arrange a new race at the backhand stroke, in which he has showed to his best.

Two records went overboard in the swimming races in the evening. H. J. Handy of the Illinois Athletic Club, champion of the West, smashed the best previous time in the seventy-five-yard back stroke when he negotiated the distance in 0:54 2-5, while Charles M. Daniels of the New York Athletic Club equaled his own American mark in the 120-yard handicap of 1:12 1-5.

Handy had as his opponent in the back stroke event J. J. Kennedy of the New York Normal School. The pair were off with the gun, and before they had traversed the length of the tank it was easy to see that the Western crack held Kennedy safe. After carefully comparing the watches, the time which hangs up a new world's mark was announced. The old record of 0:56 4-5 was held by C. A. Rupert of the New York Athletic Club since Feb. 22, 1906.

In the first heat of the 120-yard handicap, Daniels of the New York Athletic Club equaled his American mark. He closed fast on Friedlander of the West Side Young Men's Christian Association, but was unable to edge him out for first place, and had to be contented with second. In the final heat Daniels made a wonderful finish in the last twenty yards. He was fourth up to this stage, but passed Manley, his clubmate, on the turn, and went after Friedlander and Mantell furiously. He caught Mantell, but just failed to nip Friedlander.

Ten schoolboys are tied for the championship on the ranges in connection with the Sportsman's Show in Madison Square Garden. Never before in the history of the sport has there been such interest shown as this year, and over 1,500 representatives of the various high schools and prep schools in the East have tried their hand with the rifles.

To-night's programme in the water sports includes a great 200-yard team race, a relay of 100 yards for each man between Daniels and Capt. Bud Goodwin of the New York A. C. and Handy of the Illinois A. C. and Trubenbach of the New York A. C. as team mates. The summary:

120-Yard Handicap.—First Heat—Won by Friedlander, West Side Y. M. C. A., (22 seconds;) Charles M. Daniels, New York A. C., (scratch,) second. Time—1:34 1-5. Second Heat—Won by Mantell, West Side Y. M. C. A., (13 seconds;) Bud Goodwin, New York A. C., (9 seconds,) second. Time—1:28 1-5. Third Heat—Won by Manley, New York A. C., (13 seconds;) E. Wenck, New York A. C., (12 seconds,) second. Time—1:25 2-5. Final Heat—Won by Mantell, West Side Y. M. C. A.; Charles M. Daniels, New York A. C., second; Friedlander, third. Time—1:23 2-5.

75-Yard Back-hand Stroke.—Won by H. J. Handy, Illinois A. C.; J. J. Kennedy, New York Normal School, second. Time—054 4-5.

Fly-Catching Contest for Distance.—Won by R. C. Leonard, 94 feet; E. J. Mills, 86 feet, second; C. J. McCarthy, 84 feet 6 inches, third; W. Ehrich, 77 feet 2 inches, fourth.

STOPPED BY POLICE.

A Free-for-All Fight Imminent at a Protective Basket Ball Game.

Only for the presence of policemen the final game for the Brooklyn and Long Island championship among the seniors of the Protective Basket Ball Association between the Emeralds and the Visitation five of Red Hook, at Pilgrim Hall, Court and Degraw Streets, Brooklyn, last night, might have resulted in a free-for-all fight. It was a scrappy contest throughout, and while the players did not resort to actual blows, clinches prevailing in catch-as-catch-can wrestling matches were frequent. The Visitation men were the strongest, but the Emeralds showed their all-around supremacy, and won by 38 points to 10.

It was not until near the close of the second half that the playing became unusually rough, and the Visitation five not relishing the returns recorded against them, resorted to hurricane tactics. In one of the attempts to catch a ball J. Hickey, the centre of the Visitations, deliberately hit Hult, the left guard of the Emeralds, in the face, knocking the latter on the floor. The excited crowd at once rushed on to the court, but three policemen ordered them back quickly, and after Hickey had been removed play was resumed.

In the preliminary game for junior honors the Elgins and St. Michaels indulged in an interesting game, the Elgins finally winning by a score of 22 to 15.

The summary follows:

Emeralds, 38.	Positions.	Visitation, 10.
Kipland	Right forward	W. Hickey, Sylvester
MacMahon	Left forward	Lane
Maurer	Centre	J. Hickey, Taylor
Hadawig	Right guard	Fitzpatrick
Hult	Left guard	Stampe

Goals from field—Kipland, (2,) MacMahon, (7,) Maurer, (3,) Hadawig, (2,) Hult, (4,) Stampe, Lane, J. Hickey, Sylvester, Fitzpatrick. Referee—Mr. Thompson. Time of halves—Twenty minutes.

Intercity Basket Ball Tourney.

A basket ball tournament between the Young Men's Hebrew Associations of New York and Philadelphia will take place in Philadelphia on Saturday evening, March 7. The New York teams will be known as the Belmeres and the Centrals, and the Philadelphia teams will be the Camels and the Schley Juniors. Last year Philadelphia played in New York and was defeated.

Yale Letter for Champions.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., March 3.—Hereafter the Yale athletic authorities will be more liberal with the award of the "Y" to those winning athletic honors, as it was announced to-day that the winners of the individual intercollegiate championships in golf, tennis, and gymnastics will be allowed to wear the letter.

Jack Atkins Wins Rex Handicap.

NEW ORLEANS, March 3.—Hot weather brought out a large crowd at the Fair Grounds races to-day. The Rex Handicap, $2,000 added, was won by a neck by Barney Schreiber's Jack Atkins, carrying top weight, 125 pounds. The winner was held at 5 to 1 at post time, after opening at 7 to 2, and for a time was as high as 7 to 1 in the betting. Old Honesty, at 10 to 1, was second, and Yankee Girl, at 7 to 2, third.

Wallace Signs with the Browns.

ST. LOUIS, March 3.—After a conference today with President R. L. Hedges of the St. Louis American League Baseball team, Bobby Wallace signed a contract to play with the team for the coming season as short stop. It is said Wallace was holding out for the salary of $6,500, which he has received the last three seasons, but the contract signed to-day stipulates a reduced amount.

McGRAW'S TEAM COMPLETE.

More Players Report at Marlin Springs—Regulars Win Game.

Special to The New York Times.

MARLIN, Texas, March 3.—McGraw's regular players are all in camp now, Luther Taylor reporting at noon, and the party, chaperoned by Arthur Bell, arriving this afternoon at 5 o'clock. Real practice will start to-morrow. Including McGraw, there are twenty-nine players. McGraw notes with satisfaction that several members of the squad are much lighter than last season. It looks as if the Giants mean business. Curtis and Earley are still missing, but no further attention will be paid to them, and if they do not come soon their opportunities will pass.

Mathewson had his usual experience on the Momus, between New York and New Orleans. He was a stranger at the table for three days, and remained in the secrecy of his stateroom during that time. The players saw part of the Mardi Gras celebration in New Orleans last night, but left on the early morning train for this place. Taylor dropped in at noon to-day, and two hours later he was pitching a practice game.

McGinnity pitched five innings for Donlin's regulars, who beat McGraw's juveniles by a score of 9 to 2. The game went the full nine innings. All of Donlin's players except Evans were veterans. McGraw's only regular was Strang, who played second base, the manager himself covering short. Donlin's hitting was a feature. He got three hits, one clean double. The score:

Regulars	2 0 0 1 3 0 0 3 0—9	15	2
Colts	0 0 1 0 0 1 0 0 0—2	8	1

A. A. U. STATES ITS CASE.

Could Not Tolerate Amateurism of Canadians, Which Were Cast Aside.

Why the Amateur Athletic Union of the United States severed its alliance with the Canadian Amateur Athletic Union and formed an alliance with the Amateur Athletic Federation of Canada was officially announced from the Amateur Athletic Union headquarters yesterday. According to the statement sent out the articles of alliance with the Canadians were canceled last Summer, simply because the Amateur Athletic Union did not like the brand of amateurism that the Canadian Amateur Athletic Union was fostering. It was not, however, until the Canadian Amateur Athletic Union granted to Tom Eck, Tom Longboat, Cummings, and Flanagan permission to go to the United States and hold a meeting in the territory of the New England Association of the Amateur Athletic Union that Secretary John J. Dixon was instructed to take a mail vote on the articles of alliance with the Amateur Athletic Federation of Canada.

Swimmer Schmitt Is Under Ban.

The students of the College of the City of New York were greatly concerned yesterday afternoon when it was learned that Capt. Karl Schmitt of the swimming team had not succeeded in raising his academic standing, on account of which he was declared ineligible to compete some two weeks ago. Schmitt is a senior, and ever since the Yale meet, in which he won three events for the local collegians, has been working off conditions. The decision of the Executive Council, therefore, deprives the City College team of its main dependence for strength in the Columbia meet this evening, which is to be held in their own tank. Besides the ineligibility of Schmitt, the absence of Lester Corts will be keenly felt. Corts is the best plunger in college and is at present ill with pneumonia. Dannenberg, the second entry in this event, will also be unable to compete on account of an operation to an injured nose. The hopes of the Washington Heights men are placed on Morris and Stern to win points in the short distances.

Yale Oarsmen on the Water.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., March 3.—Yale's rowing squad is just two weeks behind Harvard in taking water for the first time during the season of 1908. Coach John Kennedy to-day ordered the oarsmen from the gymnasium after two months' daily drudgery on the rowing machines. There are six 'Varsity and nine freshmen eights at work, but only two of the 'Varsity crews were taken to the harbor to-day. The freshmen received barge work and the 'Varsity a short pair-oar drill. They found the harbor nearly free from ice, and there seems no doubt that the oarsmen will not be driven back indoors this Spring.

New Football Coach for Annapolis.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., March 3.—The fact that Lieut. Commander Joseph M. Reeves has been ordered to duty away from the Naval Academy will necessitate the selection of a new head coach for the football team next season. It is possible that Dr. Paul Dashiel will be induced to resume this position, but if he declines Lieut. Byron A. Long or Graduate Midshipman Douglas L. Howard are likely to be chosen if it can be arranged for them to be ordered to Annapolis.

Runner Myers Reinstated.

Dan H. Myers, the crack sprinter of Buffalo, who defied the Amateur Athletic Union by running in a special match race against A. U. Smith at Buffalo in June, 1906, which was unsanctioned, and who has been under the ban ever since, has been reinstated by the Registration Committee of the Amateur Athletic Union on the recommendation of the Buffalo commissioner and handicapper, Edward Reniecks. The committee also reinstated the basket ball team of the Central Young Men's Christian Association of Brooklyn, which, under a false impression, played against unregistered teams.

Fitzgerald Beats Williams.

Willie Lewis failed to put in an appearance at the Washington Heights Athletic Club, 167th Street and Amsterdam Avenue, last night to meet Jack Fitzgerald, and Kid Williams of Philadelphia took his place. Lewis sent word that he was ill. Williams did not prove a worthy substitute, for Fitzgerald had no trouble in outpointing him. In the final round Fitzgerald came near ending the fight with a knockout. With a right to the jaw he floored Williams, and the latter arose tardily. However, by clinching he managed to last the round out. Jack Curley and Andy Williams, and Sailor Kelly and Larry Milton drew in the other bouts.

WANDERERS LOSE TO HOCKEY CLUB

Tailenders of League Defeated After Good Contest by Score of 3 to 2.

BRYAN SCORED 3 GOALS

Close Contest Marked Game Between Rival Hockey Teams — Winners Led Opponents Throughout.

One of the closest and most interesting hockey games of the season was played last night at St. Nicholas Rink, Sixty-sixth Street and Columbus Avenue, when the Hockey Club of New York defeated the Wanderers' Hockey Club by the score of 3 goals to 2. The two clubs are at the bottom of the table for the championship of the Amateur Hockey League. In the first game between the two teams the Hockey Club won by an overwhelming score, but the Wanderers played a good game last night, and but for poor shooting might have carried off the honors. In the first half the play was evenly divided, Bryan for the Hockey Club scoring the only goal. The same player added two in succession in the second half, and the Hockey Club led, 3 to 0. The Wanderers then braced and succeeded in tallying twice, but could not overcome their opponents' lead. The game was very clean, only two players being penalized.

For the first ten minutes after the start there was little to choose between the two teams, and each invasion of the opposing goals was successfully repelled. The Hockey Club forwards for a time showed to advantage, but the Wanderers' defense prevented any score being made against them. McKenzie, the Hockey Club cover point, made a good dodging run, but was unfortunate with his shot, the puck striking the iron upright of the net and rebounding into play. Twice in succession the Hockey Club had easy chances to score, but missed by wide margins. There was a tendency on the part of the players of both teams to get ahead of the rubber, and several passes were missed. Hamley had an open shot for goal, but tripped as he was about to make the shot. A short and lively scrimmage followed in front of the Hockey Club goal, but Ellison saved twice, and eventually cleared. Du Fresne was the first player to violate the rules. He tripped Keefe, and was penalized one minute for the foul. During Du Fresne's absence the Hockey Club redoubled their efforts, and from a scrimmage Bryan scored the first goal of the game for the Hockey Club. Hornfeck followed with a clever try at the Hockey Club goal, but Ellison stopped the shot. Good play followed, but neither team was able to tally again in the first half.

After the teams changed ends the Wanderers carried the play into their opponents' territory, and made several ineffectual efforts to score. Hornfeck and Gorham carried the puck the entire length of the rink, but lost it to McKenzie, who lofted it to the opposite end of the building. Play for a time was confined to the centre of the rink, until Harmon broke away, and, after clearing the Wanderers' forward line, passed to Bryan in front of the Hockey Club goal, the latter tallying the second point. Several scrimmages produced lively work on the ice, but the players showed poor judgment in their shooting. Johnson made a deliberate attempt to strike McKenzie with his hockey stick. The blow missed its mark, but the offending player was put off the ice for two minutes. Du Fresne, a few moments later, repeated the trick, and paid the same penalty. With the Wanderers' weakened team, Bryan, for the third consecutive time, found no difficulty in tallying. During a lull in the game Gorham broke away, and after a good run, registered the first goal for the Wanderers.

Donohue Easily Beats Dorman.

Young Donohue of Boston and Jack Dorman of this city furnished a lively and interesting six-round bout at Brown's Gymnasium, West Twenty-third Street, last night. Donohue won with much to spare. He displayed his usual cleverness, and during the early stages of the contest made his rival hustle to cover. But Dorman, who is strong and in a way scientific, offset what advantage the Boston man may have had in this respect, and by rushing landed frequently with both hands.

Keyes Loses on a Foul.

Bert Keyes of Philadelphia lost on a foul to Jack Loughrey, another Quaker, in the main bout of six rounds at the Sharkey Athletic Club last night. The foul occurred in the fourth round. After having apparently all the better of the contest, Keyes swung the left in wild fashion in a rush. The blow caught Loughrey on the groin and the latter sank to the floor, knocked out. After an examination it was found that Loughrey had been badly fouled. However, it was apparent that the foul was an accidental one. The other bouts were interesting.

Safety and Reliability
The Stearns
Best of the World
The White Lined Radiator Is Still a Stearns Feature.
¶ As heretofore it represents progressiveness towards a perfect type—a type which stands for no makeshifts nor substitutes of the best materials and appliances known to motoring.
¶ A Stearns rule is the prompt adoption of every new and tested improvement, the sole aim being always to simplify rather than multiply parts.
¶ The new Stearns is a silent car, largely owing to its simplicity of construction and the universal use of D. W. F. imported ball bearings.
¶ No other car is more carefully made.

Leidig Wins from Harris.

In a game that was close and interesting despite the fact that it took eighty-nine innings to decide, C. L. Leidig defeated John Harris 25 to 20 at three cushions at Maurice Daly's Academy last night. Leidig assumed an early lead and it seemed as if he would make a runaway match of it. However, Harris in the final ten innings made a spurt and almost tied his rival. Both contestants had high runs of 2.

ANTI-MARGIN BILL A FACTOR

Traders Active in Union Pacific—Money Market Developments.

Perhaps the wide-spread discussion which was had in the financial district yesterday of the measure introduced in the House of Representatives by Mr. Hepburn proposing to tax stock transactions in order to put an end to trading on margin, or speculating, as Washington prefers to call it, had something to do with the recessions which prices made in the afternoon following a moderate advance in the early part of yesterday's stock market session. There was little real belief, however, that this measure would become a law, and at the most the feeling was that it might pass the House and set a fashion to be followed by the lower branch of the Legislature of this State. In another way, however, this proposed legislation had something to do with the day's business on the Stock Exchange. It represents another phase of the attitude which politicians and a certain section of the public are taking not only toward Wall Street but toward all activities which centre in Wall Street. It is worth noting, however, in connection with the Hepburn bill that, while there has been much talk in Washington inimical to financial markets, the present session of Congress has so far failed to develop a single law in any wise harmful to legitimate financial interests, and it is open to question if any such law will find a place upon the statute books before Congress adjourns.

Among the trading elements there was an effort made to work up enthusiasm over the announcement from Washington that the Attorney General contemplates no proceedings which would prevent the Southern Pacific from paying the customary dividend on its shares held by the Union Pacific, and Union Pacific stock rose sharply, only to fall back later and close the day with a slight loss. With the exception of the movements in the copper shares and the weakness of the Wabash issues the market was featureless, unless its continued dullness and firmness may be considered significant of its stubborn resistance to unfavorable developments. The copper stocks were affected in some degree by the further reduction in the price of the metal and by the passing of the usual dividend upon Granby shares. Attention was drawn to the February figures for business failures by reason of the fact that the totals both as regards liabilities and numbers were smaller than in the month of January, although above those of February, 1907.

No changes of importance occurred in the money market, but the banks reported another loss to the Sub-Treasury, bringing the total for the week up to $1,081,000. Financing of corporation requirements is still going on quietly and serving to keep time rates firm. The banks are surrendering Government deposits slowly, while their efforts to reduce circulation are meeting with less success than had been expected. In the month of February, in spite of the curtailment by the banks of this city, the circulation of the National banks of the country as a whole increased $280,000, bringing the total of banknotes outstanding to $695,674,519, a new high record.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

Traders' Indefinite Position.

Traders' accounts in brokerage offices are very illuminating as regards speculative sentiment. They are the most conclusive evidence, not only with regard to the apathy of the market, but with regard to the change in traders' methods and beliefs. One big house in the Street has a number of wealthy clients, some of whom are well-known to the general public because of their connection with various enterprises of National importance. Out of perhaps nine large accounts of this character, only two show any activity in the last two months, and in the case of one, the purchases have been of such a character that to all intents and purposes they are investments. In other words, the so-called margin was sufficient to pay outright for the stocks purchased. The other account was more active, but the trading was almost entirely in low-priced stocks, entirely at variance with the line of activity of a year ago. Brokers say that in examining their traders' accounts, there appears to be an entire lack of consistency and a sort of indifiniteness about the trading, indicating purchases and sales merely on the spur of the moment and without relation to anything but possible scalping profits.

More Anti-Option Activity.

Further interest in the various measures to curtail speculation and limit the power of the various Exchanges was developed by the publication of some of the details of what will probably be known as the Hepburn bill. There are some who are sufficiently impressed to believe that some kind of legislation will result which will limit margin trading, but as a rule brokers do not feel that way, and advise their clients that whatever may have been the success of politicians and others in interfering with economic laws, there is no reason to believe that any measure will be enacted which will directly affect the Stock Exchange. Some of the market letters refer to the debate at the time of the Hatch Anti-Option bill in Congress and point out that a very determined effort then resulted in failure. Some very interesting literature has been developed because of the agitation against margin trading, and some members of brokerage houses have prepared articles dealing with the subject in detail.

Good Situation in the South.

One of the members of a wire house, which does a small business in cotton, arrived yesterday from a Southern trip, which had been undertaken primarily for rest and incidentally to obtain some idea of the situation in the South. Reviewing conditions as he found them, this man said that there were many evident effects of the recent panic to be noted, but as a general proposition he was surprised, not only that the panic did so little harm, comparatively speaking, but that such great recuperative power had been shown. "Naturally, I assumed that I would find the extreme of depression in the South," he continued, "but I was agreeably mistaken. I doubt if business men in the South are as blue as many business men here. There is an obvious explanation, and that is the generous prosperity which has been in evidence below the Mason and Dixon line in the last two or three years. Cotton planters are very hopeful, but it may be that their hopefulness will make them the more stubborn in the matter of holding their cotton for high prices. I am not enough of an economist to understand the economic effect of such a thing, but I do know enough about addition and subtraction to know that if they get the price they want for cotton there will be no possibility of trouble down there for some time to come.

Demand for Good Securities.

Dealers in investment securities report what might be called a very distinct individual demand for certain kinds of investments. By that is meant that men, and women, too, who are not down on the lists as regular investors, have appeared in the offices of bond houses wanting certain securities and knowing exactly what they did want, even when they could not specify the particular bond and stock. For example, some wanted good mortgage bonds of a railroad netting 5 per cent. Others wanted underlying issues where the return was equal to or in excess of 4½ per cent., and in case of some of the gilt-edged bonds a 4 per cent. return was acceptable. It has been noticeable also that high-class investment stocks have been in some demand; stocks, for example, of roads where nearly all the outstanding issue is in the hands of some other road and against which collateral bonds have been issued. In other words, to put it generally, these investors were looking for first-class securities where expert testimony was not needed as to their character.

No Interest in Money.

Very little activity is reported in the time money market, which is as it should be, in view of the fact that present conditions and the future outlook in the stock market do not induce hilarity on the part of brokers. There is not very much interest either in the commercial paper market, and call money is at such a figure that the average broker does not know whether it is loaning at 1¾ per cent., 2 per cent., or 2½ per cent. Consequently the money market from the broker's or customer's point of view is not especially interesting. General interest in the city bond issue has disappeared, and it is only the dealers and specialists, apparently, who are concerned with current prices. It will not take long to eliminate any possible influence that the recent sale might have had on the general bond situation. The Pennsylvania report should have been a stimulating influence, and it did excite interest, but the market is of such a character that there is no way in which this particular interest could be publicly reflected.

THE COTTON MARKET.

Light and Irregular Trade—Closes 1 Point Up to 6 Points Down.

Cotton was inactive yesterday, and prices were irregular and unsettled. The close was quiet and steady at an advance of 1 point on June, but generally 2@6 points lower. Sales were estimated at 150,000 bales.

The market opened steady at a decline of 2@8 points on lower cables, but quickly rallied. Offerings increased at the advance, and during the late session prices were down to the lowest point.

Southern advices reported firm holders and delayed farmwork, and receipts continued light.

The range of contract prices in the local market was as follows:

$69,000,000 SPENT ON PENN'A TERMINALS

But $39,500,000 of This Capitalized, the Balance Being Charged to Profit and Loss.

A PROFIT FROM REAL ESTATE

President McCrea's Report Fixes 1910 as the Date for the Completion of the Great Work.

As the most important railroad improvement work ever undertaken by any railroad in this country, special interest attaches to the financing and construction of the Pennsylvania Railroad's tunnels under the North and East Rivers and through New York City, the progress of which, with the steps taken to finance them were described in the Pennsylvania's annual report made public on Monday. The cost of the entire work, including the tunnels and the vast terminal,, which the road is building at Seventh Avenue and Thirty-first Street, running two blocks in each direction, was originally placed at $100,000,000, but the final cost is now expected to be considerably above this amount.

There has so far been expended on the tunnels, the road's report shows, a total of $69,541,414. Of this sum only a little over $39,500,000 has been capitalized, the balance, amounting to $30,000,000, being charged off through the profit and loss account. Of this $7,000,000 was charged off last year and $23,000,000 in preceding years since the work was begun four years ago.

These charges in connection with the New York tunnels had no bearing whatever, therefore, on the net earnings reported for the year, which showed a falling off of $1,492,891 from the previous year, although the gross earnings showed an increase of over $16,500,000. That falling off in net was due to increased operating expenses, reflecting higher wages, increased cost of materials, &c., which were in no way connected with the cost of the New York improvements.

In further reference to the cost of the tunnel undertaking the report states that there will be substantial credits to be applied against the cost of the tunnel and terminal work growing out of the sale of surplus real estate not permanently needed by the railroad. Over $1,600,000 was received from this source in 1907 through the sale of the Post Office site on Eighth Avenue to the Government.

Regarding the progress made in the construction of the tunnel and the work directly connected with it, President McCrea, in his report to the road's stockholders, says:

"The progress upon the tunnel extension has been satisfactory, although it has necessarily been delayed by the engineering, legal, and municipal questions inseparable from so extensive an undertaking. It is expected that the entire work upon the tunnels and terminal station will be completed in 1910.

WOOLEN PROFITS FALL OFF.

American Company's Net Profits Last Year, However, Over $3,400,000.

Notwithstanding the heavy curtailment in production since October, which at its maximum amounted to 68 per cent. of the capacity of the mills, the annual report of the American Woolen Company for the year ended Dec. 31 shows net sales for the year totaling $47,377,846, from which the net profits were $3,426,605.

The falling off from the business of 1906 was, however, marked, and figures compare with net sales of $51,420,696 and net profits of $4,809,397 in 1906.

During 1907 there was written off to depreciation $2,000,000, and dividends paid on the preferred stock amounted to $2,320,833. The surplus at the end of the year was $10,114,998.

The report states that the number of stockholders increased 45 per cent. during the year.

REPORTS BUSINESS BETTER.

American Grass Twine Co. Shows an Improvement Over Last Year.

The annual report of the American Grass Twine Company for the year ended Dec. 31 shows a net profit over all expenses of $141,377, against a surplus profit and loss in the previous year of $95,058. In addition the company's floating indebtedness, amounting to $115,679, has been paid.

The better showing made last year would have been even more favorable had the company not felt its share of the business depression during the last three months of 1907.

THE EUROPEAN MARKETS.

Happenings of a Day in London, Paris, and Berlin.

LONDON, March 3.—Money was in fair supply and demand on the market to-day, and discounts were quietly steady.

Trading on the Stock Exchange showed much irregularity. The gilt-edged was the only cheerful section, being supported in anticipation of easier money, but they closed below the best of the day. Home rails and Mexican rails yielded to liquidation, but closed above the worst. Paris sold diamond shares, but supported foreign bonds moderately.

Although American shares were inactive they were steadily held above parity in the forenoon on the better Wall Street closing of yesterday. Pacific stocks received the most attention. Prices eased later, but New York supported Union Pacific and Southern Pacific, and the close was firm. Money, ½@¾ per cent.

The rate of discount in the open market for short bills is 3 1/16@3⅜ per cent.; for three months' bills, 3 1/16@3¼ per cent.

PARIS, March 3.—There was an improvement in prices on the Bourse to-day. Three per cent. rentes, 97f 67½c for the account.

Exchange on London, 25f 19c for checks.

BERLIN, March 3.—Prices on the Boerse to-day were depressed. Business was limited upon the non-reduction of the discount rate of the Imperial Bank of Germany. American shares, however, were active. Baltimore & Ohio gained 1 and Canadian issues 1⅝.

MECHANICS' BANK TO REDUCE CAPITAL

Seventy-five Per Cent. of Stockholders Vote to Cut It from $2,000,000.

CHANCE OF OPENING BRIGHT

Receivers Working Hand in Hand with Those Trying to Put Through Reorganization.

Acting under the terms of an order obtained from Justice O'Gorman in the Supreme Court yesterday, the stockholders of the Mechanics and Traders' Bank held a meeting yesterday afternoon and voted to reduce the capital stock of that institution from $2,000,000. This is in pursuance of a plan whereby the Mechanics and Traders' may soon resume business. Seventy-five per cent. of the bank's depositors have signed assents to the plan and the signatures of other depositors are being obtained daily. While the action taken yesterday is in a way only a matter of bookkeeping, it has a very vital bearing upon the ability of the Mechanics and Traders' Bank to resume business. The examination of the institution made by the State Banking Department after it closed its doors showed a surplus of $31,000 on the valuations of its assets at that time. The reduction of the stock makes this surplus stand at $1,031,000, increasing by the additional $1,000,000 the bank's ability to pay off its depositors without suffering an impairment of its capital.

At the hearing before Justice O'Gorman a representative of the Attorney's General's office was present and said that Mr. Jackson would interpose no objection. Later on, when the meeting was held, 15,013 shares were voted for the proposal to reduce the stock out of a total of 20,000 shares, with no stock dissenting.

Frederick B. Anderson of Strauss & Anderson, counsel for the bank, declared yesterday afternoon that the prospects were bright for resuming business in the near future. Mr. Anderson said that the receivers were working hand in hand with those who were trying to put through the reorganization. It is understood that the reorganization plan contemplates having the bulk of the deposits left in the bank for sixteen months.

OPPOSE PURCHASE OF TUBE.

Long Islanders Don't Want the City to Buy Belmont Tunnel.

Objection to the purchase of the Steinway tunnel by the city has been raised by the Blackwell's Island Bridge Protective Association and Carl Scharfenberger of the Committee of Forty of Long Island City. The first-named organization has sent a communication to the Public Service Commission urging several reasons why the tunnel should not be bought.

The first reason given is the lack of money on the part of the city, and the need for an east side subway. The second is that eventually the present owners of the tunnel will be able to operate it, and thereby the citizens will derive as much benefit as though the city had purchased the property. The third reason is that the Blackwell's Island Bridge is nearly completed, and of this the association writes:

It appears to be quite likely that if the city should purchase the Belmont Tunnel the Queens County Railroad Company, owned by the same interests, will not avail itself of the bridge traffic, as furnishing a competition for its own tunnel.

This bridge, built at an expense of $22,000,000, will without a doubt amply provide for the immediate requirements of communication between Long Island and the upper part of Manhattan if liberal arrangements are made for railroad facilities on the bridge and for an adequate Manhattan terminal, such as the immensity of the structure and the probabilities of travel will require.

Scharfenberger in his letter mentions similar reasons why the tunnel should not be bought.

EASY WITH CONTRACTORS.

Tammany Leader Dunn Favored by Haffen, According to Testimony.

Borough President Louis F. Haffen of the Bronx was put in an unenviable light yesterday in the inquiry which the Commissioners of Accounts are holding into the affairs of his office. It was shown that Contractor and Tammany Leader Holomew Dunn had been allowed to take his time over a large sewer contract and that, after great fault had been found with his dilatory methods, he made a campaign contribution of $1,000, whereupon he was left in peace for several months. In the end he was penalized for only a small part of the delay.

Testimony had been given by Mr. Haffen relative to the laying of several sewers.

In the case of a sewer in Grove Street the contract time was 496 days, but it took 691 days to build it. It took 422 days to lay a sewer in Evelyn Place, though the contract specified 250 days. In neither of these cases was the penalty enforced. A sewer basin in West Farms Road, which should have been built under the contract in 40 days, required 226 days the build, and, although no excuse was found for the delay, no penalty was enforced.

DOULL A STAGE CHAMPION.

Alderman Out to See That Chorus Girls Are Protected.

Upon the alleged request of a bevy of chorus girls Alderman Doull offered a resolution yesterday making it a misdemeanor to speak to an actress unless she speaks first. This is aimed at loiterers about stage doors. The board appointed Alderman Doull a committee of one to guard stage doors.

Subway Going Ahead North.

Work on the Van Cortlandt Park extension of the Subway, which was suspended last October, has been resumed. The delay was due to the non-arrival of some of the iron work, the changing of some of the plans, and the fact that the city had not acquired the necessary rights for the construction of one of the stations.

Jury Quiz for Ice Trust.

Wesley M. Oler, President of the American Ice Company, appeared yesterday afternoon, a voluntary witness before the special Grand Jury investigating the affairs of the trust. He did not leave until evening. John R. Bennett, Secretary of the company, also was there, but took no part in the proceedings.

Prohibition Wins in Vermont.

MONTPELIER, Vt., March 3.—There was no interest in the city elections held in five of the six cities of the State today. The "no license" party may be said to have secured a victory in the cities of the State, for, while one city, Burlington, swung from no license to license, two others, Barre and St. Albans, changed from "wet" to "dry." Returns from the three northern counties of the State—Franklin, Orleans, and Essex—show that the no-license faction made a decided gain.

Slain by Thief as He Slept.

Andreas Michalchug, a Russian, 30 years old, who had been in this country only a year, was murdered some time on Monday night as he lay sleeping on a cot in the stable of Samuel Koerney on the third floor of 261 South Street. The murderer battered in the right side of Michalchug's head with a sledge hammer which was found at the end of the cot. The victim's wallet, empty, lay upon his body.

Morse Withdraws Indictment Demurrer

Charles W. Morse appeared with his counsel, Philip J. Britt, before Justice Dowling, in Part X. of the Supreme Court, yesterday, and withdrew his demurrer to the indictment found by the Special Grand Jury, which charges Mr. Morse with perjury. Mr. Britt entered a plea of not guilty for his client and obtained a ten days' adjournment to enable him to make such motions regarding the indictment as he may see fit.

Heinze Must Stand Trial.

Judge Hough of the United States Circuit Court has overruled the demurrers interposed in behalf of F. A. Heinze, and has denied the motion to quash the indictment charging overcertification of checks aggregating over $400,000 in the Mercantile Bank cases.

AHEARN FILLS TWO JOBS.

John Cloughen Head of Public Works and J. R. Voorhees of Buildings.

Borough President John F. Ahearn appointed John Cloughen Commissioner of Public Works yesterday, to succeed Henry C. Thompson, resigned, and named John R. Voorhis Superintendent of Public Buildings and Offices. The salary of the former will be $6,000 and of the latter $5,000.

Cloughen was a contractor at 213 Avenue C until yesterday. For many years he was employed in the Department of Public Works under Hubert O. Thompson. Mr. Voorhis is an old-time County Democracy man, and was formerly a member of the Board of Elections. He lives at 786 Greenwich Street. Cloughen lives at 215 East 117th Street.

Find Counterfeiting Plant.

A plant for making counterfeit money was discovered in Brooklyn yesterday by United States Secret Service agents, and five alleged counterfeiters were arrested. The plant was found at 147 Lawrence Street, where a quantity of bad money, molds, plaster casts, chemicals, and metal composition was seized. The output of the plant consisted of counterfeit fifty-cent pieces, which had a slight irregularity of surface, preventing true adjustment when arranged in stacks.

The alleged counterfeiters are John Hart, Thomas F. McPartland, Raymond Scruton, Joseph Gifford, and Mabel Hamilton.

$3,000 Damages for Scars on Her Face.

A jury sitting under Justice Carr in Equity Term of the Supreme Court, Brooklyn, yesterday afternoon awarded Miss Mary McCherry $3,000 damages in her suit against the Brooklyn Heights Railroad Company for the loss of her good looks. While Miss McCherry was a passenger on a trolley car at the Manhattan Terminal of the Brooklyn Bridge in December, 1905, a heavy girder being put in place by employes of the road veered and struck the car. Her face and neck were scarred for life.

Rut Costs the City $12,500.

A verdict for $12,500 was returned yesterday by the jury sitting in the Supreme Court, Brooklyn, in the case of Cornelius H. Nugent against the City of New York. He was thrown from a wagon which sank into a rut in Berry Street, Brooklyn.
